Ike Rebukes Democrats on Tax Cut Rider

New Height in Fiscal Irresponsibility, Irked President Tells Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today tabbed the Democratic proposal to cut taxes $20 a person next Jan 1 as some kind of a height in fiscal irresponsibility.

The President told a news conference the Democratic sponsors of the plan in the House did not have the courage to offer it as a separate bill Instead he said they have offered it as an amendment to legislation to continue corporation and excise taxes at present rates

Get Around Veto

The administration has asked for continuation of the corporation and excise tax rates now in effect By tieing the proposed income tax cut with this, sponsors would present Eisenhower with a situation where he could not veto the $20 cut without also killing the rate extensions

Speaking with a marked show of irritation, Eisenhower said that when anyone talks about cutting federal revenue when spending is greater than income, then we are reaching some kind of a height in fiscal irresponsibility

Eisenhower declined to give a flat answer when asked whether it would be possible to cut taxes next year, but he again expressed the hope it can be done.

Not Insisting on Balance

In response to another question he said, he was not insisting that the budget be in perfect balance before taxes are cut

The President also dealt with these other matters

WHEAT FOR RUSSIA—Eisenhower said he personally looks askance at the idea of offering surplus American wheat to the Soviet Union but that he has ordered a study of the idea

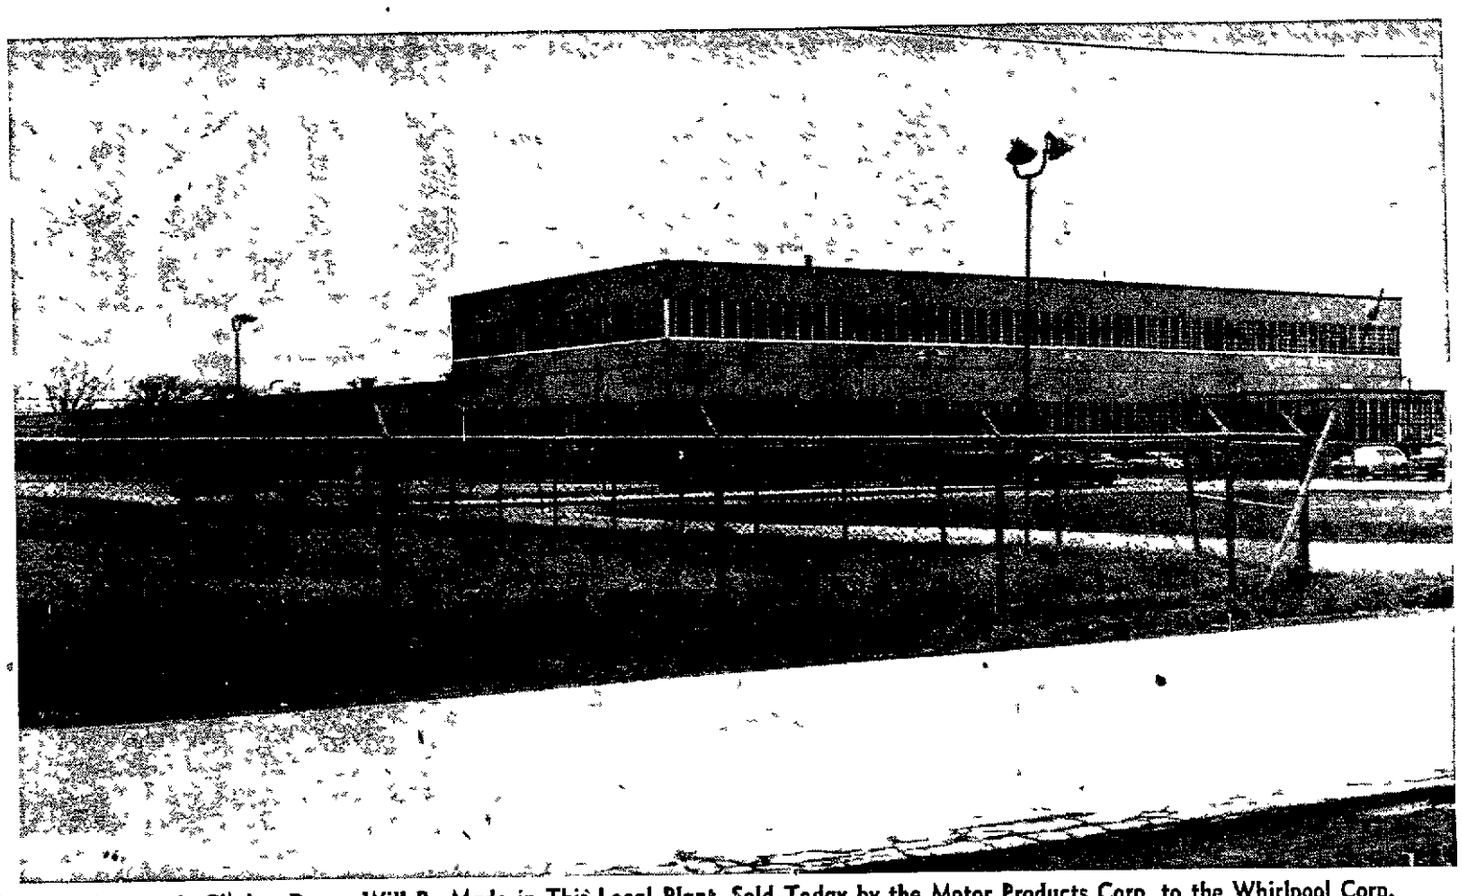
The President added that he personally would not want to go overboard with respect to the matter, because what would be a fine gesture on the part of this country could be twisted to our disadvantage by Russia

WORLD DISARMAMENT—On the basis of past history, Eisenhower said, he sees no reason for any tremendous optimism with respect to disarmament First he added, there must be evidence that each party to any such disarmament was acting in good faith Given that the President said then this country would like as he phrased it, to put everything in the pot and go just as far as anyone else

FORMOSA—The United States, the President said already is on record in favor of exploring every possible means that might lead to a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait

This remark was in reply to a request for comment on British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden's statement that Eden hoped the Formosa crisis could be settled at the Bangkok conference now in session

UNITED NATIONS — Taking a different view from that expressed by Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) in a New York speech last night, Eisenhower said he still believes the United Nations is worthy of this country's support.



Automatic Clothes Dryers Will Be Made in This Local Plant, Sold Today by the Motor Products Corp. to the Whirlpool Corp.

Firm Will Hire 1,500 To Make Clothes Dryers

The Marion plant of the Motor Products Corp. today was sold to the Whirlpool Corp of St Joseph, Mich., world's largest manufacturer of home laundry appliances.

Whirlpool will convert the factory to the manufacture of automatic gas and electric clothes dryers.

The company, which has factories in St. Joseph, Clyde, O , and LaPorte, Ind , will not occupy the Marion plant until late in April, and conversion work and installation of equipment is expected to take all summer

Pilot production is scheduled to begin in the fall but full operation is not expected until next year The plant must be completely rearranged for line production of Whirlpool and Kenmore dryers

At capacity operation, employment is expected to reach 1,500, which would make the Whirlpool Corp among the largest employers in Marion

Purchase of the plant was announced by D W Alexander, Whirlpool's vice president in charge of operations. The sale was approved late this morning at a meeting of the Motor Products board of directors in Detroit and had been approved earlier by the Whirlpool directors

The purchase price was not disclosed

The plant, located on Route 95 at the western city limits of Marion, was built in 1950 by the Motor Products Corp at a cost of more than $4,000,000 It contains 250,000 square feet of floor space and is located on 47 acres of improved land.

Had Skeleton Force

Motor Products has used the plant for the manufacture of automobile parts such as grilles, window mouldings and body trim. At peak production the firm employed nearly 1,500, but since last summer, when the company announced plans to close the factory, it has been operating with a skeleton force The relatively few employes who were retained stayed on to clean up old orders and handle a few new orders In announcing its intention to close the plant, Motor Products said it acted because of dwindling business.

In announcing its acquisition, Alexander said "purchase of the plant is part of a broad expansion program being undertaken by Whirlpool to meet the constantly-increasing public demand for Whirlpool home laundry appliances"

Last week the company announced plans to begin construction next month of a $2,000,000 porcelainizing plant to augment facilities of its plants at St. Joseph, Clyde and LaPorte.

Liked Location of City

"We selected Marion as the site for our operations after looking at a number of plants in the Middle West," he said

"Marion was our choice because it is the center of our dryer market geographically and is advantageous because of the number of major rail lines serving Marion The plant itself is of a type that can be converted to our manufacturing needs"

Alexander also said his company officials had been greatly impressed by the fine civic spirit in Marion and that their decision had been influenced heavily by the Marion Chamber of Commerce and its secretary, Hugh E Webster, who pointed out the many advantages of locating in this city

Some of the equipment in the plant will be removed by Motor Products and taken back to Detroit The remainder will be used here by Whirlpool

Alexander confirmed the fact that the company anticipates the eventual employment at the local plant of about 1,500 people It will be at least the end of April before Whirlpool will have possession of the plant and will be six or seven months, October or November, be-

Kennelly Loses Party Fight in Chicago Race

Democratic Mayor Defeated in Primary On Third Term Bid

CHICAGO (AP)—Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, fighting the regular Democratic organization which once put him in office, was defeated yesterday in the party primary. He is serving his second four-year term.

County Clerk Richard J. Daley, 52, the organization candidate, won by more than 100,000 votes.

Opposing Daley in the April 5 election will be Alderman Robert E. Merriam, 36-year-old Democrat-turned-Republican, who had little opposition from two candidates in the GOP primary.

Bitterness of the campaign between Kennelly, 67, a tall, white-haired bachelor, and Daley was reflected in the mayor's terse statement last night conceding defeat. He did not congratulate Daley, as did another defeated candidate, Benjamin S Adamowski, but said:

"I concede the election to Mr. Daley. I want to thank all those who gave their time and effort to my campaign"

Late unofficial complete returns from the city's 4,157 precincts gave Daley 364,839 votes to 264,775 for Kennelly. Adamowski, former corporation counsel polled 112,072, while Clarence Balek, a political unknown, got 4 329.

Merriam, in 4 157 precincts, had 106,626 votes to 18,253 for Lar Daly

Dulles Reassures SEATO

U.S. Military Help Pledged in Pacific

BANGKOK (AP) — The United States today assured the Manila Pact nations it is prepared to stand firmly behind its military commitments in the Far East

Secretary of State Dulles, speaking at the first closed-door session of the eight-nation conference, reportedly said there should be no mistake about U S military obligations in Southeast Asia, and its intention to execute them if the occasion arises

U. S. Policy Firm

Dulles told the delegates he wanted to correct any impression that the United States would vacillate in its stand

The foreign ministers first set goals of military security and economic progress for Southeast Asia, then took up the task of hammering Manila Pact principles into a bulwark against communism.

Dulles first to take the floor in the secret deliberations, was reported to have given the United States' evaluation of the Asian situation, and assurance that U S fighting forces in the Far East are adequate to cope with any trouble

He pointed out the United States has a mobile force in Asia and can move quickly

Suggests Military Parley

His statement was taken to mean that the United States is indifferent to the establishment of a permanent NATO-type military force

Dulles suggested an immediate meeting of military chiefs from each of the eight nations to discuss the formulation of general military plans for the defense of Asia against Communist aggression

He also proposed periodic meetings of this group Philippine sources said the Philippines is seeking the establishment of a

Matusow Ends Second Day of Senate Probing

Watkins Says Admitted Red Seeks To Destroy Other Ex-Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen Watkins (R-Utah) said today Harvey Matusow is "deliberately trying to 'destroy'" other former Communists who have testified for the government in court trials and congressional Red hunts

Watkins is a member of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, which yesterday ended two days of raking questioning of Matusow, amid threats to prosecute the young New Yorker for his turnabout testimony

Will Seek Perjury Action

Subcommittee members said they will try to jail him on perjury charges Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) said the Justice Department had asked for a transcript of the hearings

Matusow stuck to his story that he has falsely accused "hundreds" of persons of ties to communism when he testified both in courts and on Capitol Hill in the earlier 1950s

Names Other Witnesses

Matusow said he had dates in New York with a federal court and a federal grand jury Excusing him temporarily, the subcommittee called other witnesses for closed-door questioning about the case

Matusow told the senators yesterday that other former Communists who have testified about Communist espionage also have

'Pure Pork Barrel'

Sen. Byrd Opposes Highway Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen Byrd (D-Va) said today he is convinced President Eisenhower's 10-billion-dollar highway building program is "just pure pork barrel" Byrd said he would oppose it as inflationary

And Sen Gore (D-Tenn), in a separate interview, labeled as "irresponsible financing" the President's plan to earmark for 30 years a portion of federal gasoline and diesel oil taxes for construction of super highways.

Ike 'Has Open Mind'

But Sen Case (R-SD), sponsor of a bill to carry out the federal-state program, said Eisenhower has an "open mind' on the controversial issue of how to finance the road modernization plan

There were indications the President might use the forum of a White House news conference today to expand the views he expressed yesterday in a formal message laying the 10-year program before Congress

Despite rising opposition, Case said he thinks compromises may be in order He said he understood Eisenhower would be agreeable to some changes as long as the over-all objective of the program is attained.

Call for Testimony

'There will probably be some amendments but I think we'll get a bill out of the committee,' he said

Case's bill was assigned to a Senate Public Works subcommittee headed by Gore That group called representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the AFL for testimony today

Gore has proposed an alternative program under which federa aid for highways would be boosted from the present level of $875,000,000 to $1,600 000,000 yearly The present system of matching federal and state funds would be retained.

'Under the Eisenhower program, the federal government share would come to more than 31 billion dollars, with 25 billions of this devoted to a 40 000-mile network of interstate highways The other six billions plus in federal funds would go for work on roads connecting major cities, on farm-to-market roads urban streets and highways on federal lands.

Financing Setup

To finance the federal slice of the interstate highway cost, Eisenhower proposed establishment of a new federal highway corporation to issue 30-year bonds These bonds would not be charged against the national debt They would be paid off from federal

New School Bill Would Require Changes Here

Several phases of the curriculum of Marion city schools will need strengthening in order to meet requirements if the school subjects bill passed by the Ohio House is approved by the Senate and is signed into law

Robert S Brown, city school superintendent, said this morning the city schools now comply with provisions of the proposed law in the seven basic requirements, but fall short in some of the lesser requirements included in the basic seven

Chief among those Brown said was instruction in the conservation of natural resources He said this instruction will be offered if the bill becomes law

Another of the subjects which will have to be introduced into the Marion schools is instruction on the 'harmful effects of narcotics and alcoholic beverages" That requirement is included in the section requiring teaching of health and physical education.

A course in the history of Ohio, while now being taught here, will have to be strengthened, in the opinion of Brown He said this school system does not now have a good textbook on Ohio history, but one will be obtained in the near future and the course given more emphasis

Brown said the bill appeared to him to be a step in the right direction and would work benefits in the teaching methods used in the state's public schools.

Newspaper Set For Appeal on Jury's Verdict

Kansas City Star Hit In Antitrust Charge; New Trial Is Sought

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Star today planned to appeal its conviction on antitrust charges to a higher court if its motion for a new trial is overruled in Federal District Court

A District Court jury found the newspaper and its advertising director Emil Sees guilty yesterday of attempting to monopolize the dissemination of news and advertising in the Kansas City area The Star also was convicted on another count—actually monopolizing the dissemination of news and advertising—but Sees was acquitted on this charge

Sentence Withheld

Judge Richard M Duncan withheld sentencing until he rules on the new trial motion, which defense attorneys said they would file shortly

Roy A Roberts president of the Star said in a statement immediately after the jury's verdict was announced

"We sincerely felt the incidents or advertising controversies, if they could be termed such, . . were so flimsy and isolated the case should not even have gone to a jury We will appeal the case to the higher court in complete confidence of the outcome."

Could Be Acquitted

Judge Duncan still has under consideration a motion for a directed acquittal of Sees offered by the defense during the lengthy trial

The judge said he has the power

Statehouse Garage Plan Strikes Snag in Assembly

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—A well-placed time-bomb in the Ohio Senate has all but wrecked Columbus' hopes of building a huge parking garage under the Statehouse yard Senate Democrats assume it was Democratic Gov Frank J. Lausche who set the bomb

Yesterday's rapid-fire events turned almost certain Senate victory into a rout Sen Robert R Shaw (R-Franklin) sponsor of the underground garage, avoided apparent defeat by asking for an indefinite delay in consideration of his suddenly controversial measure

Outcome Uncertain

Whether any serious attempt will be made to get a floor vote on Shaw's bill to create a state commission to build the garage remained a question today. Shaw said, 'I will continue the fight,' but others predicted the bill will wind up in the Senate Public Works Committee where it started

Shaw and Columbus civic leaders were confident Monday the bill would have no serious opposition and asked that it be put up for a floor vote yesterday Democrats including Minority Leader Joseph W Bartunek of Cleveland, said they expected to vote in favor of it

Then at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, Democratic senators said Public Works Director Zoyd M Flaler passed the word he was opposed to the underground garage He had appeared twice before the Senate committee on the bill and had offered no serious objection.

Sees Lausche's Hand

Bartunek told a newsman "When a department director comes in with something like that I assume in absence of contrary evidence, that he represents the thinking of the governor"

All Senate Democrats except one decided in a caucus a few minutes before the scheduled floor vote to oppose the bill That meant 10 votes Reports were that five Republicans had joined the opposition parade Two Republicans were absent on official business In the

Churchill Adopting 'Hands-Off' Policy

BULLETIN

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today there is no question of Britain being involved militarily or "indeed our being needed in the defense" of offshore islands held by the Chinese Nationalists.

Churchill coupled this declaration with an implied warning to British Laborites against pressuring the United States to get Chiang Kai-shek's forces off the islands. The 80-year-old statesman made his report in writing to the House of Commons after he rejected Laborite suggestions he invite Red China Premier Chou En-lai to London to discuss the Formosa situation or go to Peiping himself.

401 Farmers Now Have Plan To Save Land

Conservation District's Report Shows 42 New Owners Joined in '54

Some 42 farmers made application for assistance from the Marion County Soil Conservation District in 1954, the annual report of the directors revealed today

Plans have now been drawn and are in operation for 64,794 acres in the county out of a total of 220,000 acres of farmland Since its beginning in 1946, 401 plans have been made for cooperators in the district

During the last year, practices which are valued at $100 403 were established bringing the total value of land saving practices inaugurated in the county in the last eight years to $540,157

Contour plowing was established on 124 acres in 1954 bringing the number of acres with this practice to 2 531 Pasture improvement was made on 193 acres in the year and 431 new acres of pasture were seeded

Woodland management practices were established on 170 acres while drainage systems were installed on 483 acres

Over a million and one-half linear feet of tile drainage are now in use on Marion County farms, according to the report During the last year, 312 670 feet were installed bringing the total here to 1 676,304 feet

In another phase of draining farmlands, the directors revealed that two and one-half miles of grass waterways were opened in the year The total of waterways in the county is now 37 5 miles

Five miles of fencerow were reported improved in the year raising the total to 27 5 miles

The report was submitted by Carl F Seiter, chairman of the district

The report also reviewed the specialized tours sponsored by the district during the last year as well as other activities in which the conservationists engaged

Ground Water Level Now Low After Dry Spell

COLUMBUS—Ground water level increased 1½ feet during December but has dropped again to the lowest point reached last fall, Lloyd Harrold reports from the Coshocton Soil and Water Research Station.

Harrold project supervisor at the Coshocton station says ground water level is now the lowest in 17 years of records at the station He believes this is a period of temporary decline and that the ground water level will rise again

Long-time records show "ups and downs" in the ground level We are now in one of the "downs," with a very marked decline in the last 3 years he says In 1954, the lowest point was 2 feet below the 1952 low point for ground water

Precipitation increased late in December and gave a temporary recharge at that time Less than normal precipitation during January caused another decline in water level Normally there is a gradual recharge of ground water from December to April

The January decline in water level shows that ground water reserves are low Harrold states Farmers can expect normal water supply in the root zone during the 1955 growing season, however, he adds

Harrold will appear on the Ohio Farm and Home Week program at 2 p m March 23 in Ives Hall Ohio State University. He'll discuss farm irrigation

Local Plant Plans Early Production Of New Wagon Lift

Farmers may soon be using a new mechanism designed to aid them in unloading their farm wagons A hydraulic grain hoist for farm wagons has been developed by the Marion Welding Co and will soon be on the market

With a capacity of eight tons it will lift a full load 80 inches high higher than other hoists on the market This enables the wagon to be completely emptied, even when loaded with ensilage or chopped hay

The new device will be on the market within 60 days according to officials of the Marion Welding Co In this area it will be sold at the factory and at Campbell's Farm and Supply Co

Company officials are also working out final plans for making a similar hoist to fit on the back end of one-ton pick-up trucks Manufacture of that will start in the near future

City Opposing Airport Lease At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Air Force has agreed to "discuss" its lease at Municipal Airport in a meeting with city officials on March 4 at the Pentagon.

Mayor Frank X. Kryzan said yesterday the Air Force agreed to the March 4 discussion, but made no promises about the city's opposition to its plans for the airport.

The lease was negotiated several years ago when a regular Air Force squadron of 25 Sabre jets was established at the port in Trumbull County. The mayor, backed by City Council, contends the lease limits the extent to which the military can use the field.

The Air Force originally planned to build a new field in this area, for a reserve squadron of 25 more jets. Then it decided instead to locate the reserve training center at Youngstown Municipal Airport. It would train 450 reservists and be manned by 150 permanently assigned men.

The city argues the new move "threatens to curtail or eliminate commercial or civilian aviation."

The port is used by United, Capital and Lake Central Airlines.

The port recently was surveyed by a panel of the President's Air Coordinating Committee. It reported there was room for Air Force expansion, Mayor Kryzan said the committee did not get in touch with city officials.

Ex-Red Faces Questioning by FCC Attorney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six-foot-six Lowell Watson, a self-described former Red who now is a Kansas dairy farmer, faces additional questioning by government lawyers today on just when and why he decided to repudiate his prior testimony against broadcaster Edward Lamb.

The husky, sandy-haired government witness has said communications commission personnel coached him into giving warped testimony last September, and that his conscience dictated his repudiation decision.

But Edward J. Brown, a commission attorney who has termed the 53-year-old witness' turnabout story "incredible," has made it clear he is very much interested in Watson's statement that he served briefly as a communism consultant for one of Lamb's lawyers last November.

Just when, Brown has asked—and indicated he will ask frequently—did Watson decide to return to the stand and say that he had lied? Was it before or after he worked briefly for the Lamb lawyer?

Lamb, a Toledo lawyer, publisher and broadcaster, is seeking renewal of the license of his Erie (Pa.) television station, WICU. He has denied allegations that he once knowingly associated with Communists.

There are eight miles of the Seine River in Paris.

Lost Pencil Helps Bring Pair of Cousins Together

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Seven years ago, Sam Barrett found an automatic pencil on the floor of a hotel here.

Several months later, he noticed that engraved on the band was the name Clarence W. Barrett — the same as that of a cousin he hadn't seen for 50 years and with whom he lost contact.

The other day, while visiting his mother at Canton, Miss., he answered a knock at the door and there was his cousin, Clarence, standing outside. Clarence had stopped to visit Mrs. Barrett on his way to Louisiana.

Sam pulled out the pencil, and Clarence told him it was his.

Clarence said he had been in Memphis for a short visit, had lost the pencil in the hotel and had searched unsuccessfully for it.

Fighters Patrol 350 Miles From Siberia

Life Rugged at U.S. Airfield in Alaska

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Reporter

GALENA, Alaska (AP)—This U.S. airfield must have high priority on the potential war target list of the Russian air and army forces.

Only 350 miles away—a half hour by jet fighter, only two hours by troop carrier plane—lies the tip of Soviet Siberia.

sition of the Galena Airfield. They

The Soviets know the precise po- should. Russian pilots flew in and out of here throughout much of World War II, ferrying American made aircraft to Russia in the days when the two nations were allies.

Virtually no one expects the Russians to seek destruction of such airfields as Galena. They would be too valuable as springboards for attack on the continental United States. To seize them by airborne attack would be tempting for Russian strategists. To hold or retake them, the United States would have to fly troops in from the south.

HOW FAST OR, indeed, whether, such an operation could be conducted would depend, as most matters do in the arctic and subarctic, on the weather. Fog and wind and icing conditions over the mountain ranges to the south would determine whether present troop-carrying planes could get through and whether paratroopers could jump with any expectancy of being ready to fight when they landed.

Galena has no miles of paved roads, homey quarters, officers' clubs or trim new buildings.

It stands, tattered and weather-beaten by a decade and a half of arctic storms on the lonesome reaches of the lower Yukon. Icy winds pick through loosely fitting doors of Quonset huts. Bare electric bulbs light the huts dimly. Close to the oil stoves it is hot; five feet away water freezes.

Air Force and Army personnel use sleeping bags at night to keep off the chill. Entertainment is confined to occasional movies in a crowded, small mess hall.

The nearest city is Fairbanks, 250 miles to the east.

THE VILLAGE OF GALENA is a cluster of about 30 crude buildings, occupied by Indians of the Athabascan tribe, who make their living from traplines and fishing; a white schoolteacher and his family; and a storekeeper.

American jets keep constant watch over these frozen wastes.

You obtain clearance to make a patrol in a Northrop F89 Scorpion fighter - interceptor of the 66th Squadron of the 10th Air Division, which with the 11th Air Division based at Ladd Air Force Base, 250 miles north, keeps watch for invaders from across Bering Strait.

The pilot, Maj. Amos E. Waage, of Argyle, Wis., helps you wedge yourself into the radar observer's seat. Buckles are snapped and a tangle of microphone and earphone wires plugged into jackboxes.

The pilot edges cautiously out over a patch of ice, the engines screaming a little louder, points the nose down the long strip of snow covering the runway, shoves forward the throtle.

THERE IS A MUFFLED boom as the afterburners cut in to give a surge of added power and speed. The runway streaks past—and past past. Then you are airborne.

The big fighter slides skyward, smooth as silk, hurled forward and up by 11,200 pounds of thrust.

Ice-jammed rivers unreel swiftly, far below, and the high, serrated ridges, snow-blanketed, reach up suddenly. A tight turn, with the left wing point straight toward a frozen lake 10,000 feet below, and centrifugal forces pushes you down heavily in your seat. You come to even keel and fly alongside the ragged, rocky crest of a snaggle-toothed mountain.

Let's suppose looking for an enemy, somewhere up in this empty sky and concealing clouds.

The chances are you will never see that enemy bomber. Your pilot has been following the directions of air control, which has the target located on its radar. You vector in toward the general area—the intercept course. The Scorpion's own radar search gear begins probing, finds the target, looks on it, heads the Scorpion in.

EVEN THEN YOU MAY never see your enemy, himself flying toward you with jet speed. The combined closing speed of the two aircraft may be 1,200 miles an hour. Radar does the work, aims the fighter and its ordnance. Out in pods at the wing tips are 2.75-inch rockets. Today's speeds are too fast for conventional machine guns, the planes too tough for knockdowns with such outmoded ordnance.

One hour and several hundreds of miles have gone by. Head back toward the field. Begin letting down. The runway is ahead, coming toward you fast. The touchdown for all the weighty tons and burning speed, is gentle, greasing smoothly in. A long, long roll as the decelerons bite into the air stream. Brakes taking hold now, and you are back at the huddled, lonely village of Galena.

Advances Reported For Cement Piping

WATERLOO, Ia. (UP) — A strange-looking device invented here 46 years ago was the first to make possible the machine - production of cement pipe — from four inches to three feet in diameter.

Now, the firm which makes this apparatus has come up with a process to make cement pipe connections leak - proof, particularly important when a sewer line goes near water supplies of the ol' swimmin' hole and provides danger of pollution.

Also, the new type of pipe, which can be made up to six to eight inches in diameter, reduces the amount of pumping at the treatment plant which usually is required to remove water that has seeped into such pipe.

J. N. Schenck and J. W. Stewart, the partner founders of the Zeidler Concerte Machinery Products Co. here, first exhibited their new idea in the old industry of concrete pipe-making back in 1908.

The huge machine principally is a big arm that whirls around and packs cement inside a cylindrical mold. Prior to the invention, all pipe had to be cast in molds, just as sizes larger than three feet are now.

The company's newest process calls for one end of a piece of pipe to be pressed into the bell of another where a rubber gasket seals the joint and prevents leaks, the bugaboo of the pipe industry.

Flemming Claims Republicans Seek Balanced Budget

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Republicans "are making progress toward a balanced budget," despite Democratic attempts to cut taxes, Dr. Arthur S. Flemming said last night.

The director of the Office of Defense Mobilization declared "we are going to continue our efforts to balance the budget despite our opposition's efforts to balance the budget despite our opposition's efforts to cut taxes and increase expenditures."

He referred to a curent Democratic proposal to cut income taxes $20 a person, and said American citizens would "see through" this proposal.

His speech was heard by about 1,000 Republicans who attended a belated Lincoln Day dinner sponsored by the Cuyahoga County Republican Organization.

Plan To Drop Pamphlets Is Ruled Out by Police

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—Crusade for Freedom pamphlets may be dropped behind the Iron Curtain but not on several New Hampshire communites.

Plans to scatter 150,000 leaflets from airplanes as part of a nationwide program yesterday were canccled in Manchester, Concord, Nashua and Portsmouth when police chiefs objected that fluttering paper would be a menace to motorists.

There was no protest from officials in Massachusetts and the promotional project went off as planned.

WANT NO MONEY

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Antioch College President Samuel B. Gould said yesterday the college wants no money from Harvey Matusow. In a Washington hearing yesterday, Matusow said proceeds from his forthcoming book "False Witness" will go for college scholarships. He once testified before a congressional subcommittee that many Antioch students followed the Communist line, but the manuscript of "False Witness" says this was a lie.

In the early 19th century, labor unions were classed as conspiracy by courts and were illegal.

Industrial Arts Teachers and Students Meet Here

Two Groups Convene at Harding High School For Conferences

Harding High School's Industrial Arts Department Tuesday evening was host to industrial arts teachers from other schools in North Central Ohio.

Earlier in the day, more than 100 vocational students from the Northwest District of Ohio attended the second annual Vocational Industrial Club Conference at the school.

THE MEETING last night was designed to act as the start of a regular program of idea-exchange meetings for teachers of industrial arts in Delaware, Richland, Crawford, Knox, Wyandot, Union, Morrow and Marion Counties.

Teachers here showed the visitors the equipment available for use and discussed means of improving the teaching programs for industrial arts departments in all the schools.

DURING THE afternoon meeting, R. T. Mason, the main speaker, told the students they should learn to work with their hands and learn a basic trade. He criticized industrial leaders for overemphasizing personal relations rather than knowledge of the job.

Mason, a member of the Ohio Apprenticeship Council, said today's tradesman has security in his job because of the increasing demand for skilled labor.

Students from Delaware, Findlay, VanWert, Bucyrus and Marion were present at the meeting. Vocational shops were toured, a basketball game was played, and music entertained the students between business sessions of the meeting.

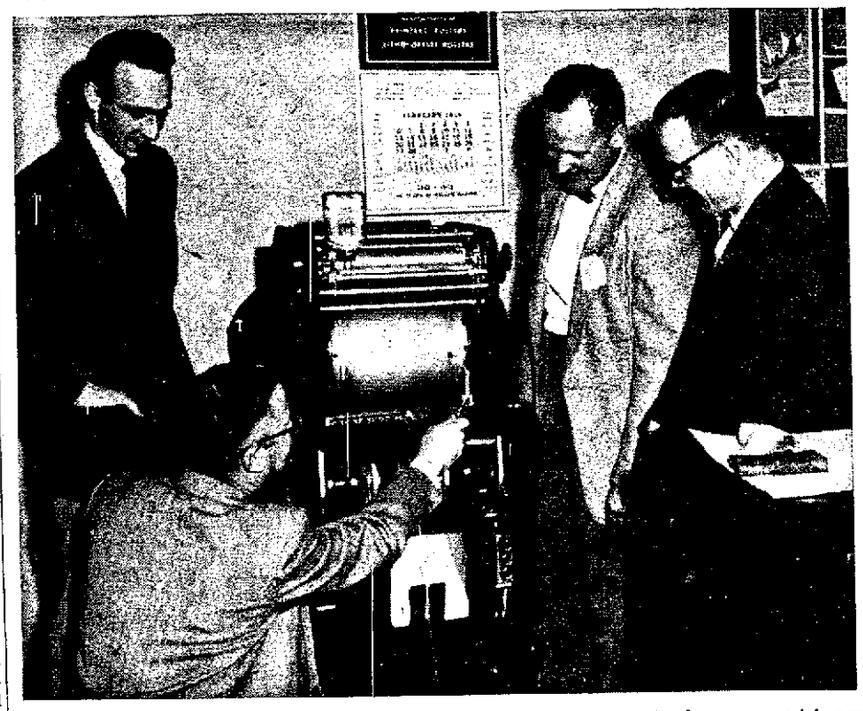
FINDLAY WILL be the site of the 1956 annal meeting. Lunch was served by Mrs. Geneva Hopkins, Mrs. P. E. Meddles and Mrs. Dale Weston, mothers of local members of the club.

Guests were Burl Shoemaker, supervisor of trade and industrial education of Ohio; Carl Schaefer, assistant supervisor of trades and industries and sponsor of the state organization of the Vocational Industrial Club; and Eric Williams, northwest district supervisor of trades and industrial education.

Conducting the meeting in the afternoon was Charles Nichols, sponsor of the Marion Vocational Industrial Club. Lee Fugitt, president of the club, was in charge of arrangements.

Assisting during the day were Richard Slack, automotive teacher; Arthur Moody, related machine shop teacher; and Emil Lisak, supervisor of trades and industries.



HARDING HIGH SCHOOL Industrial Arts teachers were hosts to area teachers at a special open-house Tuesday night at the school. The group made plans for the formation of a district club of industrial arts teachers to meet regularly and exchange ideas. Here Raymond Hoops, graphic arts teacher from Harding (kneeling), demonstrates the workings of a new offset printing press to Don Little (left) of Eber Baker Junior High School, Don Baggs, also of Eber Baker; and Glen Wrenn (extreme right) of Mount Gilead.

Three Local Students In All-State Orchestra

Three Harding High School students were members of the All-State Orchestra which presented a program at Ohio State University, Columbus, Tuesday night.

They were: John Barnhart, who plays string bass; Janet Roberts, oboe; and Pat Matthews, cello. Judy Stein was also eligible for the orchestra, but did not attend.

The state orchestra will appear in Cleveland on March 5 at the Music Educators' National Conference.

Members of the orchestra are chosen from the five district orchestras. Marion students were selected from the district which cover 22 counties in northwestern Ohio.

The School Building Problem

The nation's schools have been much in the news lately, with particular reference to the critical shortage of classrooms in many localities

This serves to point up the fact that through the efforts of forward thinking school officials and the support of the local citizenry, Marion has a much less acute school building problem at present than most cities The ambitious construction program of recent years has kept this city almost even with a school population that continues to grow by leaps and bounds

Supt Robert S Brown points out that this is evidenced by a relatively low teacher-pupil ratio—an average of one teacher to every 29 pupils throughout the city It is a little lower in the junior high schools and at Harding—about one to 25 — and a trifle higher at the elementary buildings—about one to 31

Provided that the growth of the city and the school population remains fairly constant, Brown's own estimate is that Marion should require no more major building projects for about three years Within that period some shifting of pupils between buildings probably will be necessary, he points out This will relieve overcrowding in some buildings and achieve more even distribution by bringing up to capacity those schools that still have space available.

The Marion system does have two or three over-age buildings that are reaching a point where replacement, or extensive repair, must be contemplated in the next few years.

In other words, the problem isn't solved here indefinitely. The steady growth in population and the sharp increase in pupil enrollment are such that any school system that manages to keep pace is doing a great job

Nationwide, there's a shortage of at least 340,000 classrooms at all levels The National Education Association reports there are 700 000 children in the United States who are not receiving proper education due to lack of building space and inadequately-trained teachers

In Ohio, it is estimated an expenditure of $672,000,000 will be required in the next five years to meet school needs

Let's be thankful we're even, or almost even, with the classroom need in Marion But let's also remember that no one can see the end to tremendous school expansion in this country. The building program here in recent years has kept our local system up to standard but it hasn't settled the problem for all time

A Peaceful Way?

Great Britain is not happy about Secretary of State Dulles' "yes-and-no" statement on Formosa as it pertains to the defense of such offshore islands as Quemoy and Matsu

Britain feels that Quemoy and Matsu should be surrendered to the Chinese Reds, just as the Tachen Islands were evacuated and surrendered a couple of weeks ago

Secretary Dulles has been a little coy with respect to the islands almost within sight of the Chinese mainland Our intentions are still not clear

The secretary has indicated that if the Reds attacked Quemoy and Matsu as part of an operation aimed at the conquest of Formosa and the Pescadores we might be inclined to unlumber some armed might of our own

All of which brings up the question of how one determines whether an attack on the two island fortresses is part of a bigger operation

It must be assumed that any such aggression would be designed to move the Communists a hop and a jump closer to Formosa itself which again muddies speculation over what if any, role we would play in defense of the islands

Matsu and Quemoy would not seem to be any more vital to the defense of Formosa than were the Tachens so it is quite likely that Secretary Dulles is playing for a cool off period in that area in the hope that the Reds might decide to pursue their ambitions by some method other than force

Only time will tell how well Dulles guessed

What Price Deceit?

Sentencing of a 34-year-old Cleveland woman to Marysville reformatory for cheating the Cuyahoga County relief organization out of $3 - 701 serves to pinpoint a problem confronting almost all public relief agencies

With limited investigative personnel those whose responsibility it is to pass on requests for relief find it extremely difficult to put the finger on the few who would misrepresent

Detection of minor deceits is not uncommon, but in most cases relief officials have not felt justified in exposing the violators to public attention

Cuyahoga County found a case that required more than routine handling and decided to pursue it with precedent-shattering determination.

It may seem to some that the judge's penalty was unduly severe but when one stops to consider the amount involved it becomes immediately apparent that the penalty was not out of harmony with the offense.

While the reformatory sentence should serve as a warning to those who might be inclined to cheat there is nothing in it to disturb the overwhelming majority of those who come by relief honestly and out of necessity.

'Wreckocrats' at Work

By David Lawrence

Income Tax Cut Thinly Veneers Vote Bribery

The Democratic majority in Congress has apparently decided to constitute itself a 'wrecking crew" with the obvious purpose of wrecking the Eisenhower administration even if it means wrecking the nation's economy at the same time

The party that promised the electorate in the congressional campaign last autumn that it would uphold the hands of the President and support his measures now has turned on him and on the country, too, and has embarked upon a course of irresponsibility which cannot be justified even on the ground of partisan benefit The new proposal to buy the American voters by giving everybody $20 off his tax bill and also free nearly five million voters from paying any taxes at all is the cheapest form of demagoguery

The worst phase of it is the way it is being attempted — that is, by a trick of legislative procedure which seeks to tie the President's hands so that if he wishes to veto the proposal he will also have to veto the continuance of the corporation taxes at the present rate of 52 per cent The Treasury needs the 1¾ billion dollars in revenue which would be lost if the corporation taxes are automatically reduced to the 47 per cent rate

ALSO IMBEDDED in the tax law expiring on April 1 next — unless extension is voted now — are certain excise taxes which if not continued would cost the Treasury another billion dollars This is all wrapped up in the same package which the Democrats assume the President would not dare to veto

The proposal to cut off $20 from everybody's taxes would mean a loss to the Treasury of about two billion dollars So if the President vetoes the bill with the $20 tax cut in it the Treasury stands to lose about a billion dollars in excise-tax receipts because the Congress wouldn't care to let the corporation taxes go down to 47 per cent

A bill to extend corporate taxes could be passed any time between April 1 and Dec 31, 1955 and still be made retroactive for the full calendar year.

Eisenhower therefore has no choice He has to veto the $20 vote bribe which — because the taxpayers would not get it — the Democrats assume would create widespread 'resentment at the polls As between a two-billion-dollar loss on that scheme however, and a billion dollar loss in excise taxes, it is preferable for the President to accept the excise-tax reduction

There is no certainty on the other hand, that Congress would refuse to pass a separate bill after the veto, which would continue the excise taxes Hence the loss to the Treasury might not materialize at all Then if business conditions are booming and tax receipts increase it may be that in 1956 a general tax-reduction bill could be enacted in which all taxpayers are treated equitably.

THE IDEA OF letting anyone who gets an income of $3 000 a year become exempt from the payment of any federal taxes at all, including the cost of national defense, is not one that will appeal to the sense of fair play of the electorate as a whole Yet if the 'wrecking crew' has its way it will mean that many persons in that very income group will be exempt from the payment of federal taxes

What may prove to be the most serious damage done by the "wreckocrats on Capitol Hill as someone now has dubbed them may be in the effect on the purchasing power of the dollar

If inflation is to be the accepted policy of America for the years ahead — and that's what a continuance of the unbalanced budgets could mean — then the dollar will be driven steadily downward in terms of other currencies in the world

The Eisenhower administration since taking office has made a heroic effort to work toward a balanced budget The promise has been made that such a balance can be attained in the fiscal year beginning July 1 1956 or that it will be so close to a balance as to assure the dollar a sound position

IF THE SPENDERS are to take hold then confidence will disintegrate For if a 20 for-everybody doctrine is to be the political device to win elections then there is nothing to stop the politicians from making it $50 next time and so on

It would be joyful news to the Kremlin which hopes in one way or another to see the collapse of the private enterprise system in America

There are some Democrats in the Senate like Sen Byrd chairman of the Senate Finance Committee who are opposed to the idea of any tax reductions until the budget is balanced The Virginia senator will have a hard time blocking the $20 bribe plan unless other Democratic senators line up with him to conserve the dollar from the most violent attack that has ever been made upon it

The political conspiracy would have no chance of success if it were not assumed by the "wrecking crew' that the people can be and will be deceived

From Our Readers

To The Star.

First of all, before I begin this letter, I would like it understood that I do not in any way have any connection with our local bus company. I have never worked for it, I do not have members of my family working for it, and there are no ties in any way between myself and our local transportation system.

However, I do wish to compliment the Springfield City Lines for the fine job they are doing in the operation of our buses

In the first place, they are giving us much better, larger, more comfortable riding, and better-heated vehicles in which to ride These buses have compressed air doors and brakes, which help add to the safety of your transportation

The new company has changed the routes so that they cover much more territory Not only that, but under the present system the buses are kept strictly on schedule, so much so in fact, that it is possible to set our clocks by the time at which the Mt Vernon Ave line passes our corner

I might add that the drivers are all very courteous, polite and pleasant, and will go out of their way to be of service to you

It seems to me that the public should get behind this company, which is doing such a bang-up job of operating our local transportation system, and patronize the buses all we can so that they will continue to serve us

With the present traffic problems, in a city as large as Marion, it is much cheaper to use the buses and you have no traffic problems, no hunting a place in which to park, and no danger of having your car bumped into along the curb or in a parking lot

Come on folks! Let's keep our transportation system in operation by patronizing it all we can. A city this size would miss greatly having this bus service in an emergency, as we found out when the former company ceased operation and we were without service for two or three months Let's keep 'em rolling!

Japanese Voters Keep Eye on U.S.

By Ray Falk

TOKYO

When Japan's voters go to the polls in the general elections Sunday one of the strongest influences on the way they cast their ballots will be Japanese-American relations

Mutual security aid from the U S, the stationing of American troops in Japan, Japanese relations with Communist China and Russia are the major campaign topics furiously debated by conservative and socialist candidates running for the House of Representatives

The two conservative parties—the Liberals and the Democrats—want to continue pretty much the existing relationship with the United States The Democrats want to cut the financial support Japan gives to the American forces stationed here Both parties favor a gradual increase in the strength of Nippon's own armed forces

The left-wing socialists call for the withdrawal of American troops and the abolition of Japan's army and navy They are absolute neutralists The right-wing socialists are somewhat more moderate Theirs is a lukewarm opposition to rearmament They are not opposed to some security arrangement with the United States but they are not entirely satisfied with the present disposition of the U S security forces

REGARDING THE question of trade with Communist China and Russia, the conservative parties desire that such commerce be expanded within the limits of the export bans imposed by the Western world The socialists want to sell everything including iron and steel goods, chemical products, machinery and ships

The parties are somewhat hazy in their stands on the resumption of normal relations with Peiping and Moscow Japan is still technically at war with both capitals and no one is quite clear as to how the impasse can be breached The two Communist giants object to Japan's close ties with the West, and the Japanese are demanding the return of imprisoned Japanese the return of the Habomai Islands and, if possible the Kuriles and free fishing in international waters

The remaining issues are all internal problems concerning housing, taxation and business

The unexpected development in recent weeks has been the growing popularity of the Democratic party headed by Prime Minister Hatoyama This is interpreted as a reflection of the unpopularity of the previous regime under Shigeru Yoshida

The prime minister although crippled by a stroke has toured the country talking frankly about national issues The response has been spontaneous popular support This is in contrast to Yoshida's secretiveness and high - handed attitude

HOW THIS WILL BE translated at the polls is not discernible at this time Competent Japanese observers predict that the liberals will decrease their Diet strength from 180 to 120 seats, the Democrats will jump from 120 to 180 seats and the two socialist groups will forge ahead from 135 seats to somewhere between 160 and 180 At the moment the left wing socialists hold 74 seats against the right-wingers 61 seats

If these predictions materialize Hatoyama will form the next government with the support of the liberals. Many Japanese express the hope that after the election the two conservative factions will get together to form one solid conservative party

The socialists also have been talking merger but they are still far apart Ideologically their differences are great The left-wingers are Marxists The right wingers are Fabian Socialists Merger will depend on which of the wings gains the upper hand The Fabians are scared to be sucked up by their fellow-traveling namesakes Should the socialists gain enough seats to give them a chance to participate in a coalition government they might bury their differences for the sake of power.

JAPANESE LABOR unions intend to take an active part in the election Sohyo (the general council of trade unions) plans to demand 100 yen contributions from each of its three million members Sohyo has entered 39 labor leaders in the race besides giving financial backing to professional politicians The council will donate three times as much to left-wing socialists as to right-wing Sohyo's total contribution this year will be more than twice as much as during the April 1953 general elections

The Communists are not expected to fare too well Several of their leaders have come out of hiding to run for office They place some hope on Russia's current peace offensive toward Japan It isn't so wise in Japan today to vote Communist A voter can voice his opposition to the government more efficiently by voting left wing socialist and his loyalty won't be challenged

Swedes Go Underground

By James White

STOCKHOLM

Sweden is preparing to defend herself in the atomic age by putting her navy, industry and important documents underground

Deep in Sweden's coastal cliffs, huge caverns are being provided with atom bomb-proof doors and turned into subterranean dockyards In these, naval craft, between operations, can safely be repaired and refitted Existing underground harbors are being extended to protect even the country's heaviest cruisers against both atom and hydrogen bombs

Linkoping has established its aircraft production lines in a series of caverns some 250 feet deep

In the Noorland district whole electric power stations are going underground

The new library in Gothenburg, the country's second city and most important west coast port has only three of its 10 floors above ground level The remaining seven, containing a million volumes, were tunneled out of the mountainside

In the capital atom - proof shelters are being hewn out of living rock

Sweden began planning her atomic defense 10 years ago almost before the echoes of the first two atomic bombs had died away. To date details of only one of the underground naval dockyards have been released It is at Musko on the approaches to the capital It is 50 feet long 105 feet high and 60 feet wide

The six million Swedes each year spend hundreds of millions of dollars on defense

With work on atomic defenses going according to schedule defense chief Gen Nils Swedlund now wants to equip his forces with tactical atomic weapons.

Stressing his country's strategic position astride air routes between the Soviet and North Atlantic Treaty Organization bases in Norway Iceland and Greenland he demands a defense force powerful enough so that an attack on Sweden would require such a powerful attacking force be so costly and take so long that it would not yield advantages comparable to the efforts required

The general admits that his country's resources are insufficient to hold up a Russian attack indefinitely without military and economic support from "countries which might find it compatible with their interests to help us" He considers an isolated attack on his country as unlikely, however

Although seen with Swedish eyes at least there are many factors which counsel continued neutrality there is no doubt as to where the Swedes would stand in event of a conflict between East and West In the meantime solely by her own effort, Sweden has become a military power as effective as any in continental Europe.

Unwilling to be isolated as she was in both world wars when she had to depend on the good will of both warring sides to get supplies from overseas Sweden skeptical of NATO's ability to hold Denmark and Northwestern Germany, intends to go ahead, despite Russian protests with plans to use the Norwegian port of Trondheim as a supply inlet

Apart from oil the Swedes are now self sufficient in all that matters in wartime And oil they propose to secure by means of a pipeline deep in the mountains which lie between Trondheim and the Swedish frontier a mere 22 miles away

Whether all their precautions will prove more effective than a Maginot Line remains to be seen At least the Swedes are working harder on their own defense than all but two or three of the NATO countries

Letter for Special Delivery

Cleo F Craig, President A T & T,

Dear Sir I see where the world's biggest telephone system answered 'wrong number" to people predicting a stock splitup and announced instead that it needs so much money it will issue 650 million dollars in convertible debentures in the biggest single financing operation in corporation history My first reaction was to say 'Would you mind stepping closer to the phone? I don't seem to get it distinctly" Like most people who get phone bills I always thought a telephone company had few financial problems

It seemed to me that almost every man, woman and child is using the phone these days, and most of 'em using it when I want to make a call

Whenever I want to get into a phone booth it is occupied and there is a bigger line waiting outside than there is outside of that new Broadway thriller 'The Desperate Hours" It looks like everybody in America is on the wire

My phone bill always knocks me groggy So when I read that a big phone company needs more money I can't dig modern economics

I admit that like many others I sort of expected you were doing so well there would be a stock split and I don't mean a splitup of four wrong numbers for one I had the idea a phone company rolled in wealth if only from the dimes paid by people who call me up and ask Is this Schwartz's Delicatessen' 'Is Margie in?" and "Give me the alterations' department, please"

I knew from the length of my phone bills that the company costs for white paper must be away up and I realized that you must have to pay more for wire, on account of what I had to pay for three feet to hang a picture with the other day Also I understand that modern financing is a complicated proposition and that in these days the more dough a corporation is taking in the more money it has to borrow

I guess prosperity can be a terrible burden, with taxes higher operating costs and the constant need to have bigger buildings and plant equipment through which to operate with the accustomed worries (Talk is not cheap any more, eh, Mr. Craig?)

Well, I sympathize with you so much that I am paying something on my back phone bill I have also decided not to use any more slugs in phone booths until things get better by you It makes me feel guilty to realize that every time I have dropped a slug in a slot I have probably added to a phone company's new construction problems

(I hope you do not get me wrong The telephone is close to man's best friend, and it is certainly woman's constant companion I don't know what we would do without it It would be cheap at twice the price I just wish things were going so well you didn't need 650 million dollars so early in the year)

Yours with best wishes,
Elmer

Prime Minister Shapes British Policy at 80

Churchill Shows No Signs of Retiring

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill has adopted a new philosophical attitude to all this talk about his reuring as prime minister. He has joined in the talk himself.

Not many months back even closest associates dared only to drop delicate hints in sounding out the unpredictable "old man."

Now he frequently brings the subject up himself. And he gives the impression there's nothing more he enjoys talking about than the quet life away from high public office.

But there is a suspicion that it's just talk—and he has only deepened the bewilderment of political friend and foe.

WITH ELECTION TALK in the air they are more interested than ever to know just what he intends to do.

One thing is certain: Churchill is still guiding British government policy, both at home and abroad.

Now in the third month of his 80th year, he still has shown no signs of relinquishing this leadership, at least while in office.

It's made easy for him, however, as he thinks the same in foreign affairs as his political heir-apparent Sir Anthony Eden, and in domestic affairs as Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard A. Butler.

The Prime Minister looks physically fit for his years. And he's still looking ahead.

HE MADE THAT CLEAR during short but sharp skirmishes with Laborite critics in the House of Commons only last week.

A Socialist suggested inviting President Eisenhower to London or that Churchill should go to Washington to discuss the international situation, particularly Formosa.

Churchill retorted quickly:

"The President has long known how glad we should be to welcome him in our country to which he has had cordial invitation. I have in fact been to see him three times in the U.S. or in Bermuda since he was elected president and I would glady go again if the occasion was opportune, but I must be the judge of that."

—:—

BIG FOUR TALKS? Yes, he still favored them but not until after ratification of the Paris agreements providing for rearming West Gemany.

The old man's tone and manner did not give the impression of a prime minister thinking of immediate retirement.

Yet the time is nearing when he faces a decision, especially if the government decides to call a general election this year.

The Churchill regime's present term has until October 1956 to run —but he can set an election before then and there's talk he may do so this fall.

Churchill reportedly tells intimates that he would like to get away to relax—painting, writing, and just strolling in the gardens of Chartwell, his country estate.

Following Smoot's speech, Paul Snider, manager of the local Social Security office, will speak on the effects of the new social security law on the farmers. A business meeting will also be held and prizes will be awarded.

At the evening session, Nelson Landes, who recently took a tour of Europe and went on a hunting trip in Africa, will show movies he made on the trip

Pointers on Caring For Lawns Offered

CHICAGO (UP) — Your front lawn can be tough enough for a neighborhood football game if you plant wisely and give the grass proper care according to the Journal of Housing

The magazine, published by the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, offered these tips

1 Pick the right grasses—bluegrasses fescues and bents for the northern part of the country, and bermudagrass centipedegrass and zoysia for the warmest sections

2 Cultivate the soil regularly

3 Use plenty of fertilizer at regular times

4 Mow often when the grass gets to be high-enough—1½ to 2 inches for cool-season grasses and one inch for warm season grasses

5 Water deeply as needed but only as fast as the soil will absorb

The Journal said that mowing is "a shock to grass' and that the shock is greater the longer the time between mowings

The article said homeowners could take a tip from golf course greenkeepers by 'plugging a term that means digging up a damaged piece of sod and inserting a new and healthy piece

The damaged plane was stripped of some of its loose parts and loaded into the sling The Piasecki, a twin 'beater" type did the rest

ROOM OUT OF BALANCE?
The "conversation group" usually consists of a sofa balanced by a pair of chairs In assembling this group the important thing is to remember is NOT to try to balance a heavy, oversize sofa with lightweight, spindly chairs. If you do every piece in the group will lose in decorative value.

Distribute Weight Evenly
Remember that the lamps and tables at the ends of the sofa add to its apparent size and weight — so balancing chairs should be proportionate, the two chairs acting as a mass offset for the sofa-table-and-lamp group Chairs need not match in line or color but should be approximately the same size

Senate Studies Amendments to Pay Boost Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Kefauver voiced confidence today that the Senate—"by a substantial majority"—will approve a 50 per cent boost in pay for members of Congress

Kefauver, floor manager for the bill, said in an interview he thinks there are 60 or more votes for the bill He said he thinks all the amendments proposed will be beaten

A time limit on the debate appeared to insure final action late in the day

That would send the measure to conference with the House which earlier okayed a congressional pay hike to $25 000 yearly The Senate bill provides for $22,500 Both contain comparable increases for federal judges

Both bills would retain the present $3 000 exemption for income tax purposes which Congress has voted its members The theory is that this repays them in part for the expense of maintaining two residences

Sen Morse (D-Ore) who upset plans of Senate leaders to rush the bill through last Monday has put in a series of amendments

One would boost the special tax exemption to $5 000 Others would increase the funds congressmen now get for office staffs and other expenses

Morse also seeks to require publication of the names and pay of all congressional employes This information now is available on staffs of House members but not on senators unless authorized by individual senators

Continue Sub Search

NEW YORK (AP)—The Eastern Sea Frontier Command will continue today to search for any evidence of two submarines reported seen off the coast at Nags Head N C

A spokesman for the command said last night the search had failed so far to turn up any trace of the subs reportedly seen by coast residents three to five miles offshore, heading south

The Coast Guard at Nags Head relayed the report to the Navy yesterday A check was made from the air by a plane out of Norfolk Va and by a blimp sent from Weeksville N C

There are no American submarines in the area, the spokesman for the frontier command said He noted that the water along that part of the shore is only 5 feet deep and said the operation of submarines in water that shallow "doesn't make sense"

He said numerous fishing boats work in that area and could have been mistaken for submarines when seen at the reported distance

More Doctors Needed in Ohio

Hospital Bed Shortage Also Becoming Worse

WOOSTER — When your doctor says he's busy, don't blame him, but ponder these statistics instead. At least half of Ohio's 88 counties have only one doctor for every 1,250 persons. Five counties—Noble, Warren, Carroll, Vinton and Muskingum — report only one doctor for every 2,000 people or more.

These figures were released today by Wade H. Andews, sociologist at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, who has just completed an analytical study of population trends in Ohio.

Andrews said the ratio of physicians to population on a statewide basis at the time of the last federal census, in 1950, was only 13.6 per 10,000 persons. In 1940 it was 15.4 to 10,000. Union, Logan and Cuyahoga counties report a more favorable ratio: 30.9. 24.9 and 23.5 physicians per 10,000 presons.

A similar shortage exists in the number of hospital beds, Andrews reported. Data from the American Medical Directory indicate that in 1940 Ohio hospitals had 33 beds per 10,000 persons. Although there was in increase in the number of beds in 1950, the rapid population growth actually lowered the ratio of available beds per 10,000 persons to less than it was in 1940.

Wyandot Farm Specialty Is Popcorn

POPCORN, BEEF CATTLE and hogs are all part of the operation at the Wyandot Popcorn Co. farm just north of the Marion-Wyandot County line.

UPPER: These white-faced Herefords are part of the herd of 88 being raised this year on the land owned by Hoover Brown. The cattle have been fed Stilbestrol, a new drug which is supposed to add weight to the cattle.

LOWER: Making sure no field corn has become mixed in with the popping corn are George E. French, Mrs. Joseph Clark and Mrs. French. From this belt the corn will drop into drying bins where the moisture content will be lowered to meet standards.

Cattle, Hogs Also Raised By Hoover Brown's Family, Employes

Nearly five million pounds of popcorn is processed each year at the Wyandot Popcorn Co. just north of the Marion-Wyandot County line. With distributors all over the country, the workers at the factory-farm are kept busy the year-around shelling, drying and bagging popcorn.

Popcorn is not the only enterprise of the place though. Owned by W. Hoover Brown of Marion, the farm and factory are family-run operations.

A herd of white-face Hereford beef cattle is raised by Brown's son, David, who operates the farming end of the place. Covering some 523 acres of ground, the farm and factory is a landmark for residents in the area. As the driver passes the county line, heading north, one of the first things he sees to the east is the four-story popcorn plant rising above the trees.

BROWN STARTED out as a general farmer. Then, when the first crop quotas were put on produce, he decided to try his hand at popcorn growing since there were no quotas on that crop.

That was in the 1930's. He is still at it and has found a lucrative return for his early experiment. Now he is unable to raise enough corn on his own place and contracts with farmers throughout the state to supply his factory with corn. He points out that most of his suppliers seem to like the arrangement since they have no storage problem and are paid in cash at harvest time.

Brown insists that popcorn for his factory be stored on the grounds. He has built special cribs to keep the corn free from dirt, dust, birds and rats until it is time for processing.

This year Brown has 88 head of beef cattle. His son, David, is experimenting with Stilbestrol, a new drug which is supposed to add extra weight to the animals. So far, the animals have seemed to gain weight faster than in previous years.

THE BROWN family also has about 50 brood sows on the farm. The first litter of pigs was born last week and others are expected within several days.

Brown started his popcorn enterprise in an old schoolhouse located in front of his farm. Soon he found the demand for the popcorn required expansion. In 1945, he built the present structure, which has four stories.

SIXTEEN CRIBS are located east of the building. These have a capacity of 7,000,000 pounds of corn. When the corn is brought from the cribs to the processing plant, it is dumped into a hole on the first floor, then lifted by elevator to the top story.

Then it is sent through a chute onto a conveyor belt to the third floor where three workers sort it, discarding any field corn which may have gotten mixed into the popcorn.

From the conveyor belt, it is dumped into drying bins where it is held for about 48 hours to bring the moisture content to the best degree. After the drying process, it is sent through shellers, which not only strip the corn off the cobs, but grind up the cobs and blow them to a building outside the plant.

The shelled corn is sent through grading machines which sort out the kernels according to weight. After that it is dumped into either 50 or 100 pound bags and is ready for shipment.

When a truck arrives at the plant for a load of processed corn, it pulls into the first floor. The bagged corn is dropped from the second floor through a chute and slides right into the main body of the truck.

Brown has distributors all over the country. He said that the market for popcorn seems to move from the south to the north as the seasons change.

TESTING THE CORN is an important part of the processes at the plant. Each batch must be carefully inspected for moisture content while in the drying process. After that, it must be tested for volume. In this process, it is popped and the ratio between the unpopped and the popped corn is measured in a secial tube. at present, the top grade of Wyandot corn has a volume ratio of about 38 to one, while the number two grade is about 35 to one.

Brown said there was no peak season for the processing operation at the plant. The market is fairly stable the year round, keeping his employes busy all the time.

An elaborate fire prevention system has been developed at the plant in which each employe has different duties to perform in case of fire. There is also a fire watering system and a siren which can be heard for several miles. So far, the system has not had to be used.

The plant was cited last year by an insurance company for having exceptional fire prevention measures in use.

Manager of the processing plant is Joseph Clark who has the job of keeping the processing going and also acts as handyman. He is familiar with electricity, plumbing and other skills which are frequently rquired in the operation of the plant.

HERE IN MARION, the office of the firm is located on Oak St. It serves as the outlet for the Wyandot popcorn and also for prepopped corn and caramel corn.

In the main farm, labor-saving devices play a major role. Feed for the cattle is lifted to hay mows in the upper section of the barn, feeders are located directly under the mows and the feeding is done only by pushing the feed from the top of the barn into the feeders.

A new hay feeder has also been built lately. This device has enough space to keep the cattle in feed for a long period of time without refilling.

Brown's farm will be one of those included in a beef tour next month sponsored by the Marion County Beef Feeders Association.

a problem of the same proportion is facing most feed companies in mixing about 1/3 oz. of stilbestrol into one ton of cattle feed

The Food and Drug Administration in its approval for use of stilbestrol has set about ⅓ oz. per ton as the right amount for this powerful growth stimulant. That means it is added in the proportion of only 1 part to 90,800 parts. It must be mixed so that cattle get just the right amount . . . too little stilbestrol in their ration won't produce maximum gains . . . too much in their ration can prove toxic. Yes, it is a big mixing problem for most feed companies—but not for Purina, with its exclusive Micro-Mixing process.

MICRO-MIXING is accurate to the 1/10,000,000 part!

Modern mixing equipment plus the technical skill of Purina engineers, laboratory technicians, and mill employees makes such a mixing job routine for Purina. Purina's Micro-Mixing is a quality control process that assures you every bite is mixed just right. Every animal gets its fair share when you feed Purina Steer Fatena or Beef Chow with stilbestrol added. That means that you go to market with a much more even bunch of cattle.

NOW AVAILABLE at your Purina Dealer's— Steer Fatena and Beef Chow with stilbestrol, MICRO-MIXED— every bite mixed just right.

Swamp in Illinois Lays Claim to Unusual Fish

WOLF LAKE, Ill. (UP) — The Pine Lake swamp near here is a biological wonderland that includes among its oddities fish which are one to three inches long when mature.

A study of the swamp's fish population has been made by William M. Lewis, assistant professor of zoology at Southern Illinois University, and his assistant, Gerald Gunning.

One of the rare species is the spring cave - fish which reaches maturity at three inches and spends much of its time in subterranean passages from which spring water flows into the swamp.

Also found were pigmy sunfish "small sunfish" that grows to one inch long at maturity and a three inches.

LaRue and Prospect Move Into Tournament Finals

Indians Win Sudden Death Play; Pleasant Posts Victory

By JOHN SHORT

It'll be LaRue and Prospect battling it out for the county tournament crown Saturday night and if last night's results are any indication the scrap will be a dandy.

A total of 2,957 paid fans attended last night's semi-final contests for a new record attendance at a county tournament session. Previous high was the 2,874 at last year's championship battles.

And no one left the Coliseum last night grumbling. It was well worth the admission cost.

County League co-champion LaRue pulled one out of the fire by whipping Claridon's stubborn Hornets 56-54 in a sudden death overtime thriller. Prospect broke loose in the fourth quarter to belt Caledonia, other co-champion, 77-69 for the other finals berth while Pleasant's surprising Pandas kept rolling with a 56-45 verdict over New Bloomington.

—:—

ANDY TATE came off the bench in the final period to see action for LaRue. He finished the game with only four points but they were the biggest four points of the evening.

With 10 seconds left and his mates trailing Claridon 48-47, he dropped in a pair of fouls but the Hornets knotted the count when John McClanathan hit from the free throw line with two seconds to go to send the game into an overtime.

The Hornets jumped into an early lead and then went into a stalling plan of attack when three starters picked up four personal fouls. Claridon was out front 16-8 at the end of the first period as LaRue's attack failed to dent the Hornets' zone defense.

Both teams finished the second period with 10 points to give the Hornets a 26-18 bulge at the half. Stalling by Claridon at the end of each period brought boos from the fans but the tactics paid off until well into the third quarter when the Indians began moving.

Trailing 34-29 at the start of the fourth quarter, Coach Ted Dennison lost the services of Larry Hickman, Norm Buyer and Bob Hughes during the period while Claridon lost Bob Johnston and Lay Row. Ray Hosey picked up the slack for the Indians in the final eight minutes when he dropped in four field goals to help cut the lead of Bus Augenstein's cagers. The regular time ran out with the score knotted at 49-all.

Both squads netted five points in the first overtime session. Hosey canned a field goal and one foul shot and Larry Knapp scored twice from the foul line. Claridon's scores came on field goals by Don McCoy and Gary Row and Bob Howser's foul shot.

—:—

WITH THE SCORE knotted at 54-54 the teams went into the sudden death period with the first squad scoring two consecutive points the winner. Tate took care of the finish only 14 seconds after the tip off when he hooped in a fielder from just to the right of the keyhole. He was mobbed by LaRue players and fans before he could reach the locker rooms.

Hosey finished the game with 21 points to top the LaRue attack and Hickman netted 14. Gary Row and Howser were high for the losers with 15.

Prospect and Caledonia hooked up in the best played contest of the tourney and it was a thriller right down to the last period.

Big Bob Rodgers pumped in 36 points to lead the Bulldogs to the win. His total came on 13 field goals and 10 foul shots.

The Bulldogs jumped to a quick lead but the speedy Donians came storming back to grab a 22-19 lead in the first period. They retained a slim 40-38 edge at the half.

Rodgers took charge of the Prospect offense in the last half with 23 of his 36 points. The winners forged ahead in the third stanza and carried a 55-51 bulge into the final period when the Caledonia attack faltered. Gene Rice was the only Donian able to hit during that period. He managed to keep his mates in contention until the late stages with 14 points.

Prospect had little trouble in controlling the boards against the smaller Caledonia team with Rodgers and Bob Emery handling that assignment.

EMERY AIDED Rodgers in the scoring department with an 18-point production. Rice finished with 20 for Caledonia while Irvine Hunt collected 16, Jerry Gorby 12 and Doug Whiteamire 10.

A slow first period by New Bloomington cost it its loss to Pleasant. The Pandas moved into a 22-5 first period lead and were never seriously threatened. Bill Gracely missed most of the first half for the losers after he injured a leg in a collision with Darrell Stoner of Pleasant. The New Bloomington squad also was playing without the services of Roger Boles who was out with an asthma attack.

The losers could score only once from the field in the second period as the Pandas grabbed a 33-11 halftime edge and lengthened the lead to 43-25 at the start of the final period.

Stoner's 17 points topped the Pleasant scoring while Ken Owings finished with 10. Floyd Beers topped New Bloomington's offense with 18 and Jack Brinkley chipped in with 11.

Last night's results dropped Claridon into the consolation semi-finals against Meeker Thursday at 7:30 and Caledonia against the Pleasant quintet in the finale at 8:45. Winners of those two games

Big Walnut Edges Olentangy 66-61 in Delaware Tournament

DELAWARE — Big Walnut moved into a Central District tournament berth here last night with a hard-earned 66-61 win over Olentangy. The loss moved Olentangy into a consolation game against Elm Valley Thursday night at Delaware Wilis High School. The winner of the game will play Big Walnut Friday night in the tourney final.

Big Walnut, with its 6-7 scoring ace, Dave Popplar, held to one shot from the field during the first half, moved into an 11-10 edge in the first period but Olentangy came back to grab a 29-28 edge at the half. Big Walnut had regained a 46-38 lead at the start of the final period.

With 45 seconds left to play, the Braves managed to climb to within two points of the Big Walnut squad at 61-59 but lost when the Eagles went into a possession game and were fouled.

Bradley Cox poured in 26 points for the losers. That was the highest individual total thus far in the tourney. Don Viers collected 19. Bob Wilson topped the winners with 22 and Meadows chipped in with 10. Popplar could score only seven points against the efforts of Cox, Viers and Jeff Inglish.

Mo Connolly Quits Net Action To Wed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Maureen Connolly suddenly gave up plans for a tennis comeback last night and said she would get married in June.

The blonde, brown-eyed miss, who at 20 has captured most of the world's tennis crowns and still holds some of them, said the man is Norman Brinker, 23. They had been engaged since November 1953, but marriage plans had been indefinitely postponed.

The announcement surprised even close friends who had watched the determined girl's preparations for a return to her meteoric tennis career, which was interrupted by a horse riding injury to her right leg last July.

Outfield Top Problem

Pirates Pin Hopes on Service Veterans

By FRED HANEY
Pittsburgh Manager

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—When a team finishes in eighth place, it is pretty hard to talk in glowing terms about next year. I do think, however, we will be much stronger than last year, with two or three boys such as Dick Groat returning from service.

I remember last winter and during the spring I thought we would get out of eighth place. We had improved but the rest of the league advanced right with us. Maybe it will be the same next season. Who knows?

Our biggest problem is in the outfield. We're set at only one spot, center field, or wherever Frank Thomas plays. We have had fine reports on the ability of the kid we drafted, Roberto Clemente. Scouts have told me this boy has a good chance. He has the tools and he hit quite well ni the Puerto Rican League.

Groat Should Help

Last season our pitching wasn't too bad. Sure, the pitchers were terrible at times, but generally we could have won a few more games with a long hit here and there. We left an awful lot of runners on base. We got too many singles. Groat should help us. He batted over .280 for us when he came out of college.

We've got a lot of outfielders going to camp from the looks of the roster. We just have to hope for the best in that group. Some of them had good minor league seasons, but you don't know about them when they get to the majors.

Quite a few people have talked to me about Gene Freese. He's the younger of the two brothers who had a terrific season with New Orleans. They seem to think he's a natural. Gene's not on our roster. But could very well make it before we start to play.

No Disappointment

That doesn't indicate there was any disappointment in Curt Roberts at second base last year. I thought Robby did a terrific job, especially stepping in from a Class-A league at Denver the year before. He's as fine a glove man as you'll find around.

I'm also interested in seeing George Freese again. There is no question about his ability with the bat. He showed us that last spring, but I was just a bit shy on him because of his defensive ability. But third base, like practically all the other jobs, is a wide open affair again.

I don't worry too much about the catching. We had a good pair in Jack Shepard and Toby Atwell. This was our strong point. And there are a couple of more with promise on the roster. It's easy to analyze or club from here but many things can happen before April 12, when we open the season in Brooklyn.

There's a fellow I'd like to talk about and that's Dick Littlefield. Don't forget, he'll be with us all season, and you know what a big help he was after he started to pitch regularly on June 12. He won 10 games and could have had a few more, but we left too many men on base.

I'm also hoping that Vernon Law can go a full season in the way he started out last year. Remember, he was just coming out of service, and hadn't pitched very much for two years. And then worried more about his arm than getting anyone out. He won six games by the middle of June and finished the season winning only nine. I don't think he's that type of pitcher. I hope it's just a case of getting reorientated.

Gavilan Faces Constance for TV Ring Show

MIAMI BEACH, Fla (AP) — Kid Gavilan, Former welterweight champion, was a 2-1 favorite to whip Hector Constance of Trinidad tonight in a 10-rounder.

Gavilan expects to weigh in at 152 pounds while Constance probably will weigh 148 at fight time.

CBS will telecast at 10 p.m., EST.

Gavilan is trying to stage a comeback after losing the title to Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia Oct. 20. He won a split decision over Ernie Durando Feb. 4 in New York but wasn't too impressive in that appearance.

Gavilan said after the fight with Durando, a welterweight, that he planned to fight only welterweights with the aim of getting a return shot at Saxton.

The Cuban Keed has never been knocked out in 118 fights and is expected to volley the Trinidad youngster with his usual assortment of hooks, jabs and his bolo punch.

Constance is a 24-year-old boxer who has engaged in only 38 fights, winning 24 and drawing in eight, with five defeats and one termed "no contest."

In previous fights in this country, Constance has beaten Chico Varona and Ralph (Tiger) Jones and gained a draw with Johnny Brown twice.

Boston Club Waits Move By Williams

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

While the Boston Red Sox fret about the intentions of Ted Williams, who is spending the week fishing off Florida, at least one of the first-liners is in an optimistic mood

Catcher Sammy White like Williams unsigned, said today he expects to be aboard the train heading South for the Sox training camp in Sarasota Sunday Furthermore he sees a big improvement in the club's pitching

"Last year the loss of Mel Parnell early in the season put a strain on the rest of the boys right down the line" he said "If Mel is all right again — and I don't see any reason why he won't be — that pressure will be released

"I'm also high on Frank Sullivan I don't see how he can miss winning 20 games this year, barring injuries He has the know-how and the desire"

No one in the Sox organization knows exactly what is on Williams' mind and they probably won't until the end o the week He has a contract — or, at least one has been mailed to him — but he has done nothing about it

Meanwhile signed contracts continued to dribble in Chuck Diering, who probably will play a major role in the success or failure of the revamped Baltimore Orioles, came to terms for an estimated $2 000 raise No figure on the contract was given

Only four Orioles — pitchers Lou Kretlow, Preacher Roe and Jim McDonald and outfielder Cal Abrams — have not signed and none are expected to pose a problem

The Milwaukee Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates each brought one regular into the fold Johnny Logan, the National League's top fielding shortstop for the past three years, agreed with the Braves, while infielder Dick Cole accepted the Pirates' terms Only shortstop Dick Groat, outfielder Frank Thomas and pitcher Vernon Law remain outside the Buccos' fold.

The Detroit Tigers, who recently turned down an offer of $100 000 for outfielder-catcher J W Porter, signed the youngster, who is returning from the armed forces Billy Hoeft, a pitcher, is the only unsigned regular Tiger.

Trabert Plans for Pro Career After 1955 Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Trabert new national indoor tennis king, reiterated his aim today to score a sweep of the big summer events and go for the professional pot of gold

"My plans?" the 24-year-old husky from Cincinnati parried a question "I'll play tennis all summer I hope to win at Wimbledon and at Forest Hills, help defend the Davis Cup and then if I'm made an offer, turn pro"

Thick-shouldered Tony looked capable of carrying out his ambitious program as he whipped his Davis Cup teammate Hamilton Richardson in the indoor finals yesterday at the 7th Regiment Armory The scores were 11-13, 7-5, 9-7, 6-3.

Redlegs Leave For Opening of Training Camp

CINCINNATI (AP)—Hank Zureick the Cincinnati Redlegs press agent and his brand new bride headed for Tampa, Fla , today And that meant all of the Reds either are in Florida or on their way for another National League baseball season

And with them were the ever-blooming hopes for at least a finish in the first division a position no Cincinnati team has reached since 1944

Zureick headed out of town less than 24 hours behind General Manager Gabe Paul Traveling secretary Johnny Murdough and trainer Wayne Anderson went out ahead of Paul

So did such resident players as first baseman Ted Kluszewski, outfielder Gus Bell shortsop Roy McMillan and infielder Charlie Harmon Outfielder Bob Borkowski of Dayton, pitcher Joe Nuxhall of Hamilton and outfielder Wally Post of St Henry—all from Ohio—presumably are on their way

Most of the others are heading toward Tampa from various parts of the country

Left at home was a skeleton crew in charge of selling advance tickets for the 1955 season—a highly important chore as far as the front office is concerned

Paul carried considerable optimism with him for the 1955 season

"Naturally we re optimistic" said Paul "We feel we've helped the club in the off-season deals even though we d like to have done more

"Birdie (Tebbetts Cincinnati manager) did a good job last year in getting us into fifth and with a break or two this year we could cause a lot of trouble"

The program calls for the Redlegs to open spring training chores at Tampa Tuesday There will be the routine drills—the boresome part as far as ball players are concerned—until March 10 when they'll open the exhibition series against the Chicago White Sox

The exhibition games in Florida and on a barnstorming trip home will continue until April 10 at Washington The Reds will open the regular season here on April 11 against the Chicago Cubs

Galion's Quay Notches 46 for Scoring Mark

GALION — Tom Quay, Galion's lanky senior center, set a new school single game scoring record here Tuesday night in pacing his Tiger teammates to an 82-78 victory over Mansfield Madison

Quay dumped in 46 points in 19 field goals, all on close in shots, and eight free throws to break the former mark of 45 set by Randall Vance in the 1952-53 season

Fans sensed Quay had a chance to break the school's game scoring record when he approached 40 points and his teammates fed him the ball the rest of the way. He collected the record breaking points on a fielder with 30 seconds left in the contest.

It marked the second school scoring record Quay had established at Galion in less than a week Friday against Upper Sandusky, he pumped in 29 points to pass the former season scoring mark of 365 set by Ray Seif in the 1949-50 campaign. Quay now has 413 points for the season

The visiting Mansfield quintet grabbed an early lead but the improving Galion squad snapped 8-8 and 9-9 deadlocks to jump ahead for keeps Galion led 20-15 at the close of the opening period, was ahead 42-35 at intermission, and on top 60-49 at the three-quarter mark It marked Galion's seventh straight victory of the season.

Harry Garverick supported Quay's efforts with 16 points Hink dropped in 32 tallies for the losers

The winners ended with 34 hits in 76 attempts from the floor for 44 per cent while Madison had 29 for 74 from the field

In the preliminary reserve tilt Galion's JayVee's turned in a 60-46 triumph as Dick Jourdan shoved in 16 points Galion, now 10-7 for the season, travels to Shelby Friday where it will oppose the Northern Ohio League leaders in a clash for top spot in the standings Galion is 5-1 in league play, Shelby 6-0.

DIG THAT FANCY DUKE. A false mustache hides the youthful features of Britain's Duke of Kent as he cuts up with Rona McLeod, 35-year-old hostess at the Austrian ski resort of Kitzbuehel, where he is vacationing Publication of this picture in London raised speculation whether the duke, 19-year-old son of the Duchess of Kent and cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, and Miss McLeod were more than chance partners at the ski resort party Miss McLeod told interviewers "I'm old enough not to be silly enough to have an affair with a 19-year-old boy"

Marion County Home Lists '54 Deficit of $802

Superintendent Files Annual Statement of Operational Expenses

The Marion County Home last year operated within $802.91 of its income, Clarence Keil, superintendent, reported in his annual financial statement to the Board of County Commissioners today.

Keil's report showed that income during the year from farming operations, incomes from inmates and their relatives and miscellaneous receipts amounted to $57,771.33. The expenditures for the year were $58,574.24. The $802 difference was paid by the county.

Keil said this morning this was the closest the Home has ever come to breaking even in its operations for the year. He said the proximity of income and expense meant that taxpayers in the county only paid three cents a day for the maintenance of each inmate.

The daily per capita cost of each person was $2.26 a day, but most of that was made up by the income derived during the year. Main source of income was the payments from social security, aid for the aged, pension plans, annuities and contributions from friends and relations of inmates.

There were a total of 70 persons in the home at the beginning of 1954. Another 31 were admitted during the year, while 33 were discharged or died, leaving a total of 65 at the end of the year.

Persons over 65 were the largest age group at the Home. There were 55 persons over 65 years of age in the Home at the end of 1954, compared with eight persons in the age bracket of 51 to 64 and two in the bracket between 21 and 50.

Through the year, men outnumbered women at the Home by about 20 or 25.

Probe Opened Into Death of British Visitor

NEW YORK (AP)—Lady Mary Graves, 34-year-old daughter of a British countess, died under puzzling circumstances in her luxurious Central Park West apartment early today.

On a dresser at her bedside police found several bottles of barbiturates, including two thought to be sleeping pills.

At first, officers termed her death apparent suicide. Later, however, they withdrew this description and blamed "an apparent overdose of sleeping pills."

Finally, the whole question was left open and an autopsy ordered.

A maid who summoned police told them Lady Mary had come to this country on a visitor's visa and had been living in the plush eight-room apartment for the past six months.

The maid, Elizabeth Scenan, said Lady Mary called her to the bedroom aobut 1:30 a.m. and said: "Get me a glass of milk and come back and talk to me."

Upon her return, the maid said, she found Lady Mary on the floor, unconscious.

She summoned a physician residing in the same building and he pronounced the British woman dead at 1:40 a.m.

The maid said her employer had been under a doctor's care recently for minor ailments, but did not give details.

Water Closes Highway Near Prospect

State Route 4 at Newmans near Prospect, was closed early this morning by the State Highway Department when the Scioto River, which had flooded out of its banks, made travel over the road difficult.

The river rose to a high of between 10 and 12 inches at this area on Route 203 just beyond the intersection with Township Road 85 about a mile south of Newman's Bridge.

Here a truck is shown "navigating" the water. Most vehicles who failed to heed the high water warning signs were forced to turn around and used other roads to reach their destinations.

The river is out of its banks in many other places, according to the county engineers office, but no other roads in the county have been closed. In a few places, the water has started to recede.

With the closing of the road at Newmans, traffic from Marion is being detoured to Waldo and then across on Route 47 which connects with Route 4.

According to an Associated Press dispatch, weather officals expect the Scioto River and smaller streams to crest today and foresee no serious flood threat since no rain is expected before Thursday night. Some smaller streams already have crested.

Ted Pierce of the Columbus Weather Bureau said the river probably will crest at 15-16 feet at Circleville, where flood stage is 14 feet. He also said Chillicothe can expect the Scioto to rise about six inches above flood stage. Piketon will probably get five feet over the 15-foot flood stage, but no damage is expected in business or residential areas.

33-member Senate, that combination of opposition and absences brought the bill to the brink of defeat.

Shaw ran up the flag of truce.

The dramatic switch-around was a shocker to Columbus civic leaders and stole the show in yesterday's legislative sessions.

'Three R's Bill'

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to require public schools to teach a number of basic subjects. The now-celebrated measure generally is referred to as the "three R's bill." It is backed by scores of civic and patriotic organizations.

The measure simply restores the law to what it was before the uniform school code was adopted in 1943. Among several hundred amendments adopted at the time the code was approved was one which changed one word—"shall" to "may." That change removed the legal requirement that public schools must teach any subject—except for one unaffected requirement that a child must have one unit (a full year's instruction) in American government and history in order to graduate from high school.

No one now knows who suggested the change—or why.

So the House voted yesterday, 127-1, to change the "may" back to "shall."

Required Subjects

Among the subjects which the schools would be compelled to teach are: The language arts, including reading, writing and spelling; geography and U.S. and Ohio history; mathematics, science; health and physical education; fine arts, including music; first aid, safety and fire prevention, and instruction in the harmful effects of alcohol and narcotics.

The Senate blowup on the underground garage proposal had an echo in the House when Rep. Virgil Perrill (R-Fayette) opposed an Ohio Constitution change which would prohibit use of capitol grounds for a garage.

and 7,594 for Fred Lyon.

The total unofficial vote was 964,920, which was 50 per cent of the registered vote. The Democratic total vote was 746,015 to 132,473 by Republicans.

Organization Democrats allied with Daley scored sweeping victories in the aldermanic primary race for the 50 City Council seats.

Former Marion Woman Named OES Home Head

Mrs. Margaret A. Bradbury of Gallipolis, O., a former superintendent of the Marion City Hospital, has been chosen by the Order of the Eastern Star to be superintendent of its home for the aged in Mount Vernon, O.

Mrs. Bradbury came to Marion in November, 1943, and resigned her position as hospital superintendent here June 1, 1946, at which time she became superintendent of Mary Rutan Hospital in Bellefontaine. She held that position more than three years. She later was superintendent of the hospital at Circleville and has been making her home in Gallipolis.

Radio Expert Speaks

U.N. Best Tool for World Peace, Altrusa Club Told

The United Nations provides the best machinery for building peace that mind of men has yet conceived, Mrs. Dorothy Lewis told members of the Marion Altrusa Club and guests Tuesday evening at Hotel Harding. Mrs. Lewis, who is liaison officer of non-governmental organizations for United Nations, was the speaker for the Broadcasts, United Nations Radio Division, was the speaker for the February dinner meeting of the club. Her subject was "Communications' Role in International Affairs."

She brought a realistic picture of the United Nations, describing what is being accomplished in what has come to be a world forum "in which the people have a front seat and a voice through today's communications media — newspapers, magazines, radio and television." Radio, she said, is a particularly effective way of reaching a mass audience because it reaches across borders to the illiterate as well as the educated.

Through the atomic threat all men are now exposed to potential annihilation, she said, declaring that through modern communication and transportation we are neighbors and the challenge that we become our brother's keeper is paramount. "The world may now be a neighborhood—it is not yet a brotherhood," she added.

A CONTRIBUTING factor to our present dilemma, she said, is the impatience of many people with the United Nations—impatience based on inexperience with this new business of peace building. She listed as a misconception the notion that U. N. aspires to be a world government when what it actually is is a "parliament of nations" through which the separate nations can cooperate to attain lasting peace.

She cited as some of the achievements Palestine, where United Nations lost its first martyr of peace, Count Folke Bernadotte, and where Dr. Ralph Bunche, 1950 Nobel Prize winner, became "what might be called the new Colossus of Rhodes," and the Kashmir story, another case of cease-fire and negotiation. "The end of the story has not been written," she added, "but men of good will are giving their lives in an effort to satisfy the valid and vast interests of the world." She touched on the work of the World Health Organization, founded in 1948, the Food and Agriculture Organization, International Trade Organization, International Refugee Organization, UNESCO dan many others.

"WE WOULD APPEAR to be growing up," Mrs. Lewis said. "No longer are negotiations conducted behind palace doors but in a world forum. Thousands of the world's top leaders, scientists, and economists, in a long term program are seeking an answer to these problems and through their constant collaboration and exchange we are building foundations for a more secure world."

Citing what individuals can do in helping to promote peace she listed the following: be better informed; encourage better coverage of world affairs by news media, schedule meetings about the United Nations; pass constructive resolutions; contact senators and congressmen; encourage libraries to stock United Nations material; see that schools teach about United Nations; send suggestions and/or criticisms to the department of state. And most of all—have faith.

The program was sponsored by the International Relations Committee. Miss Frances Coup, vice president and program coordinator, presided for the meeting and Mrs. Lewis was presented by Miss Madge Cooper, director of women's activities at Station WMRN. Table decorations were in a patriotic theme carried out in tapers and red carnations. On the walls of the ballroom were flags of the United States and United Nations.

MRS. LEWIS was an honor guest at a tea given Tuesday afternoon by Station WMRN and Miss Madge Cooper, director of women's activities at the station, in the Women's Club Home.

Guests were officers and representatives of clubs, civic groups and organizations in the city. The hours were from 3:30 to 5:30.

In the receiving line during the afternoon were Miss Frances Coup, Mrs. Henry A. Mickley, president, Mrs. Ralph E. Epley, first vice prresident of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs, Miss Ruth Kramer, past president of Altrusa International, and Robert T. Mason, president and general manager of the Marion Broadcasting Co. Assisting were Miss Marjorie Williams of WMRN staff.

Presiding at the tea table were Miss Ruth Turner, Miss Mary K. Stone, Miss Mary Ellen Kerr, Miss Helen Bowe, Miss Coup and Mrs. Epley. Centering the table was an arrangement of yellow roses, blue iris and acacia, with yellow tapers in crystal holder.

to sustain this motion, despite the jury's verdict. If he does so, Sees will stand acquitted.

The newspaper faces a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine on each of the two counts. The maximum for Sees is a $5,000 fine and a one-year jail sentence. The charges were misdemeanors under the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Earl A. Jinkinson, chief government counsel, said the government was eager to get action completed on a civil suit still pending and would seek a summary judgment on basis of evidence submitted during the trial.

The civil action seeks to enjoin the Star from continuing combination advertising and combination circulation rates, calls for the divorce of the Star's radio and television station from the newspaper and separation of the Star and its morning edition, the Times.

Under combination rates the subscriber or advertiser must buy subscriptions or advertise in both morning and afternoon papers at a single price.

Charges on which the Star was convicted included: refusing or threatening to refuse advertising space to advertisers who proposed or did use other media, or who purchased larger ads in other publications; discriminating on space and location of ads if the advertisers used other publications; attempting to coerce advertisers into buying unreasonable amounts of space in the Star.

Court Clarifies Law for BIS Commitments

Action Without Grand Jury Indictment and Trial Is Ruled Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court in a 4-3 decision today knocked out commitments to the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster on recommendation of a grand jury without indictment or trial.

The decision reversed Lucas County courts and returned the case of a 16-year-old Toledo youth to common pleas court for further proceedings. The trial court had ordered the youth, accused of criminal offenses, committed on recommendation of a grand jury. An appellate court agreed.

Counsel for the youth appealed to the high court on grounds the Juvenile Court Act of a decade ago repealed an earlier law permitting commitment wthout indictment or trial.

Without dissent, the Supreme court agreed with that contention in a split decision.

Without dissent, the Supreme Court affirmed Perry County appellate court's refusal to order Carrie E. Brown re-employed as a teacher in Pleasant Local School District for the 1952-53 school year.

The Supreme Court affirmed Muskingum County courts in a workmen's compensation case but reversed decisions in another.

The high court reversed and returned to common pleas court for further proceedings the case of Edward Schiele, 1065 Putnam Ave., Zanesville.

Schiele was injured while employed by the Wise Foundry, Machine & Supply Co., Zanesville. Lower courts held for the Ohio Industrial Commission that denied compensation.

The commission also denied compensation to Herman L. Fox who was injured while working for the Ohio Power Co. In the Fox case, the Supreme Court affirmed lower courts that held for the commission.

Dulles said subversion against member nations demands equal attention with open aggression.

Both Dulles and Richard G. Casey of Australia, who followed him, expressed guarded optimism about the future of the Associated States of Laos, Cambodia and Viet am.

'Situation Improving'

They said the situation in those countries was improving, and it the improvement continued there was solid ground on which to base hopes for a democratic victory in the Viet Nam election.

Under the soaring golden roof of Thailand's Royal Ananda Samakom Palace, the 150 delegates moved into closed session after opening addresses by eight foreign ministers and Thai Premier Pibulsonggram.

Their immediate task is to organize a permanent council of foreign minister and a secretariat and set up military, economic and antisubversive committees to carry out decisions of the council.

The Manila Pact nations are the United States, Britain, New Zealand, Australia, France, the Philpines, Thailand and Pakistan.

The scope was stated by Premier Pibulsonggram. Speaking from under Thailand's royal ninefiered umbrella in the glittering Throne Room, the slight, graying Premier said the Manila Pact provides "for comprehensive measures of defense and prevention. This is fortunate, for not only military and security measures are contemplated, but also measures for fostering freedom and culture, for promoting higher living standards, economic progess and social well-being of the people of the area."

'Against No Government'

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles declared that the Manila Treaty "is directed against no government, against no nation and against no peoples."

Dulles declared the United States was at the conference to carry forward its "time-honored policy . . . first . . . that we want our own people to enjoy, in peace, the blessings of liberty.

"The second is that we cannot assure liberty for ourselves unless others also have it. Freedom cannot thrive in an environment that is hostile to freedom."

Byrd said the program "is inflationary at a time when the economy is booming. The administration is proposing deficit spending and I don't know why."

He claimed that "pork barrel" aspects of the proposal lie in the fact that populous states would get windfall payments from the federal government for toll roads which they had already built and could spend this money for things other than the superhighway system. He said 27 states would get such payments.

fore "pilot production" can be started, he said.

Whirlpool, which has experienced a rapid growth in the postwar years, got its start in the air rifle business. The company was formed in 1911 as the Upton Machine Co., of St. Joseph. In 1914, the company purchased the American Tool Works of St. Joseph and two years later signed a contract to make a special brand of electric washers for sale by Sears, Roebuck and Co., beginning an association that has lasted ever since.

In 1918, the firm purchased the property of the Stopple Kook Kot Co. and began manufacturing the official Boy Scout mess kit as well as air rifles and washers.

By the 1920's the washer side of the business had overtaken air rifles in volume of manufacture and in 1927 the air rifle patents, tools and equipment were sold.

TWO YEARS LATER the Upton Machine Co. merged with the Nineteen Hundred Washing Machine Co. of Binghamton, N. Y., which had been formed in 1898. The merger proved very successful with the company showing a profit throughout the depression. From 1929 to date, the company has never failed to show an annual profit, nor failed to pay a dividend.

In the prewar years the company held a leading position in the industry. Sales ranged from $4,000,000 to $10,000,000 annually. During the period 1942-45 inclusive, production was devoted almost exclusively to war contracts and in 1943-44 there was no civilian production whatsoever. In other than the war years products of Whirlpool Corp. often outsold those of any other company in the industry. This was particularly true in the depression years 1930-33, when sales, primarily those of the Kenmore brand supplied to Sears, Roebuck & Co., accounted for a very substantial portion of the entire production of the home laundry equipment industry.

The most significant development during the period following World War II has been the successful promotion of the Whirlpool line of home laundry equipment. Prior to World War II the company produced, in addition to the Kenmore line, a number of private brands sold to various major outlets. After World War II these private brands, except the Kenmore line, were eliminated and plans were initiated for an intensive promotion of the company's own line through independent distributors and dealers, an avenue which had been explored previously only in a very limited manner.

THE PLAN actually got under way in 1949 when the first major promotional effort was launched. In order to give further impetus to the sale of its own line, the name of the company was changed from Nineteen Hundred Corp. to Whirlpool Corp. in 1950.

By the end of 1950, Whirlpool washers, dryers and ironers were being sold through more than 70 distributors and some 10,000 dealers throughout the United States.

In 1940 employment was 921 with a total payroll of $1,100,864. In 1953, employment was 6,593 and the payroll totaled $28,721,059.

Prior to 1946 Whirlpool plants totaled 375,000 square feet of production area. At the end of 1953 the production area had increased to 1,780,000 square feet. The quadrupling of plant area within the last seven years is due primarily to increased facilities required to fill the demand for the automatic washing machine.

Officers of the Whirlpool Corp., in addition to Alexander, are Elisha Gray, president; Frederick S. Upton, vice president and treasurer; P. Eduard Geldhof, vice president; John A. Hurley, vice president; Robert M. Mitchell, vice president; Robert C. Upton, vice president; Frederick R. Funk, secretary, and Edward C. Cudmore, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

A manager for the Marion plant will be named about the time Whirlpool takes possession, Alexander, said.

Two of the company's vice presidents, Alexander and Upton, together with several other company officials, plan to visit Marion Monday to attend a meeting of the Manufacturers' Council of the Chamber of Commerce.

Traffic Cases In City Court

Five drivers were fined a total of $75 and costs on traffic charges in Marion Municipal Court Monday.

Each of the fines was $15 and costs and some were suspended.

The drivers and charges were: J. E. DeJarnette, 28, of Franklin, fictitious license tags, fine and costs suspended; Otis Allinder, 31, of Richwood, insufficient brakes; Mark Jonson, 27, of Toledo, fictitious license tags; H. L. Ballinger, 21, of 233 Forest Lawn Blvd., failure to heed stop sign, fine and costs suspended; O. R. Stevens, 48, of Toledo, no safety chains; and Johnnie Osborne, 30, of Wayne, Mich., speeding, fine and costs suspended.

A charge of drunken driving against Sampson Cosey, 46, of 749 N. State St. was dismissed in Municipal Court.

Cosey also had been charged with carrying a concealed weapon and was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail from Common Pleas Court on this charge.

Both charges were filed as a result of the same arrest and in granting the dismissal, Judge W. Dexter Hazen said it would be unjust to try Cosey on two charges growing out of the same set of circumstances.

District Traffic Cases

Eight arrests were made Tuesday outside of Marion County by state highway patrolmen from the Marion post.

Frank Thomas Czysz, 56, of Nitonawanda, N. Y., and Myrl McKinley Burchfield, 58, of Columbus, were fined $15 and costs each on excessive speed charges. They appeared before Mayor Emory Murphy of Mount Gilead.

Also appearing before Mayor Murphy was Arthur L. Paul, 20, of Cleveland, who was fined $10 and costs on a charge of passing without assured clear distance.

James H. Connor, 21, of near Ashley, and Thomas W. Selby, 25, of Akron, appeared before Mayor Don Healea of Cardington. Connor was fined $5 and costs on a stop sign violation charge, and Selby was fined $15 and costs on an excessive speed charge.

William B. Moorehead, 58, of Poland, and Frederick S. Pfeiffer, 21, of Urbana, Ill., posted bonds for appearance at later dates before Judge Henry Wolfe of Delaware on charges of unsafe operation.

Dorothy M. Briner of 249 Uhler Ave., was fined $5 and costs on a charge of excessive speed when she appeared before Justice of the Peace Robert Neff of Bucyrus.

regated cells, since he was returned to the prison Jan. 14 as a parole violator.

Police officals said Welsh, a buddy of McDermott, notorious slayer of Canton newspaper publisher Don R. Mellett in 1926, permitted McDermott to stay at the New Oakland Hotel here, where Welsh was a room clerk, after McDermott walked away from an honor dormitory last November.

Welsh was paroled last Aug. 25. He was serving a 1-25 year sentence for armed robbery. His parole had been revoked until January, 1960.

McDermott now is listed among the FBI's "10 most wanted men."

Inmates of the cell block where Welsh was confined are denied all privileges. They are permitted daily exercise in the prison yard, fed their meals in their cells and otherwise only leave the cells for baths and haircuts.

Warden Alvis said Welsh's last movements could not have been seen by the 22 to 24 other occupants of the adjoining cells because only the front of the cells are open and all face the same direction.

Alvis said he presumed the prisoner had torn up his shirt to make the noose, tied the end of the shirt to his cell door, and then stepped off his bed.

3 Ohio Senate Members Visit State Hospitals

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three members of the Ohio Senate carried their tour of mental institutions to Youngstown and Akron today. In visits to three hospitals near here yesterday, they were impressed by the need for more space and more personnel.

Theodore M. Gray, Republican from Piqua; Edward H. Dill, Democrat from Middletown, and Fred L. Hoffman, Cincinnati Republican, are members of a subcommittee of the Ohio Senate's Committee on Finance.

Today their itinerary takes them to Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown, and the Summit County Receiving Hospital near Akron. Tomorrow they will visit the state hospital at Apple Creek, in Wayne County.

The Cleveland Receiving Hospital, the Cleveland State Hospital and the Hawthornden State Hospital were visited yesterday by the subcommittee and several officials of the State Department of Mental Hygiene.

Sen. Gray commented "I was impressed with the cleanliness of the institutions here and with the fact that the staff is trying to do the best job it knows how, with what it has."

Sen. Dell said he was "startled" by the contrasts he saw, "by the difference between crowded Cleveland State Hospital and the almost campus-like atmosphere of Hawthornden State Hospital."

Sen. Hoffman said the three institutions near Cleveland "seem better than those in Columbus and Cincinnati that I have seen."

The Legislature has before it several bills to help specific institutions. The State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction wants a statewide program.

Crawford Man Killed in Crash

Clinton O. Long of Sulphur Springs Dies

A truck driver identified as Clinton C. Long, 44, of Sulphur Springs, was one of two men killed early today when two semi-trailers collided headon near Burbon, 10 miles east of Plymouth, Ind., on U. S. Route 30.

Officers said the second driver was not identified immediately.

Fire followed the crash and the bodies of both men were burned, but officers said both probably met instant death in the collision. Both tractors and one of the trailers burned.

Long was headed east in his truck which was loaded with steel rods.

Watts Motor Car Fund Reaches $450

A substantial boost in the Ralph Watts Motor Car Fund was reported today by Finley P. Drury, chairman of a committee soliciting money for the fund.

The fund has reached $450, just $250 shy of the goal of $700, he said.

The money is to be used to purchase an electric-powered car for Ralph Watts, of 649 N. Prospect St., who for some 30 years has used a hand-powered car as his only means of transportation. The electric car will be similar to one used by Arthur Godfrey following his hip operation last year.

A polio victim, Ralph has been crippled most of his life.

Our Beliefs

By George Sokolsky

I recently had an experience in Canton, Ohio, which I wish to report. It was a wonderful experience in the First Presbyterian Church.

SOKOLSKY

On a cold, snowy night about 1,500 men met for a religious service, men of all religions, principally men, for worship on a Monday night. I listened to a male choir sing as beautifully and as inspiringly as I had ever listened to anywhere. What was so exciting was that these men took the night off, not for a social party, not to eat tough chicken and cold peas, or to hear funny stories, but for religious worship.

—:—

IN THE COURSE of the evening, a "Universal Creed" was read. It was a composite of several religious professions and it undoubtedly was a product of an effort to say something that nobody could disagree with. It is rarely possible for men to agree with each other on creeds that are fundamentally different. It is much more beneficial to be controversial and to stimulate controversy. It is the only way to encourage thought.

For instance, "The Universal Creed" opens with this paragraph:

"I believe in the universe. I rejoice in its beauty and find reassurances in its order as revealed by scientific research. I try to adjust my life to its laws."

I cannot accept the universe as an article of faith. I do not believe in the universe. I believe in the Creator of the universe. After all, the universe is only a geographical term, a composite of what we know of the planets and stars and the atmosphere in which they move.

Were there no Divine Intelligence, no controlling Force, they would bump into each other, burn each other, destroy all that is upon them. One wonders at the amazing balance in nature that keeps all the little fragments of the universe just where they ought to be, and while we have to take much of faith because we still know so little, every addition to our knowledge forces upon us increasing admiration of the Creator.

BUT IT IS NOT scientific research that revealed the truth of the order in the world. Scientific research, for instance, has not advised us what to eat and what is dangerous to eat for thousands of years; it is the accumulation of human experiences going back beyond history that gave us fire and the wheel and most of the fundamental wonders of our age, but it is not the whole story of man's development which is replete with miracles far beyond our understanding.

I picked one paragraph, the first, in this particular effort to establish a universal creed only because I do not accept it that we all need to believe uniformly.

The human mind functions best when it functions independently, when it reaches out for the truth even when the truth seems to be false; if not false, at any rate dubious. Socrates was given poison to drink and Jesus was crucified. They did not conform.

Efforts to find a spiritual or intellectual common denominator are not unusual. Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain tried to produce conformity and they wrecked a great Empire and a noble civilization; Hitler tried it in Germany and brought upon the world a frightful war and upon his country ruin; Stalin tried it in Russia and we are still to see what his version of conformity means.

IT IS PREFERABLE to have differences of view, differences in an orderly fashion. I once was engaged in a discussion with men who professionally should have been scholarly. We were discussing the differences between Christianity and Marxism. They had no sure familiarity with either except by name.

They knew the words Christianity and Marxism, but the areas of conflict between these concepts of life were uncertain to them. They did not think in definitions. They accepted the words but ignored the meaning. They knew that they had been born Christians and that they were not Marxists. That was enough.

But it is not enough if they are to be militant for what they believe to be true. Conformity deadens the mind; controversy sharpens the mind.

Too many influences are at work these days to make us all alike in our thinking and beliefs—alike as a string of frankfurters. Such conformity and unity are unnecessary.

Guaranteed Wage

By Victor Riesel

This year will make history which will affect the pocketbook and bank balance of every family and corporation in the land.

VICTOR RIESEL

The trick is handling history this year is to write it before, not after, it happens.

It's strictly out - on - the-limb business, but here goes:

Ever since man was first paid for his labors in shells and dried fish, he has dreamed of steady work and full pay the year round. Today we call it the guaranteed annual wage, or continuity of income. Walter Reuther decided to make that dream come true—and he picked 1955 for the big drive.

Reuther came in a little late on the year because the AFL Teamsters already have won for 100,000 of their members a guarantee of 40 hours pay in any week the boss tells them to report for work. However, the employer can still lay his men off for a full week and not pay them anything.

There are other thousands of Teamsters who have a guarantee of $75 a week in any week they are called in, even if they work only half a day.

However, these pacts do not yet guarantee continued income the year round. That's what Walter Reuther is aiming for. He is being closely observed by the Teamsters, who believe that Reuther will first hit the Ford Motor Co., which employs 150,000 auto workers.

The teamsters' public relations department, run by labor's most debonair publicist, Eddie Cheyfitz, issues a news letter for a selected audience. In it, Eddie will say this week that the CIO Auto Workers Union will win an agreement at Ford. This contract will establish the basis for a guranteed annual wage system, which won't go into operation until 1958, Cheyfitz will say. First, some five to 10 cents an hour for each worker will be paid into a special fund by the company, like the current welfare and pension funds.

Then a joint management-labor committee will be set up to study methods of taking money out of this kitty and giving it to laid-off Ford workers—in conjunction with unemployment insurance.

There are those who disagree with Cheyfitz' version of the formula. One top Auto Workers official, a vice president of Reuther's union, believes the following will be the formula. For every two years a man works, he will be guaranteed pay for a year of unemployment. Not full pay. Probably 80 per cent of the money he earns each week when he works.

ANOTHER HIGH labor leader, a Teamsters' vice president, believes the pact will guarantee each man who has put in two or three years in the plant, 1,000 hours of work a year. This will include his overtime. There is an average of 2,000 working hours a year—50 weeks at 40 hours a week.

Or the joint labor-management committee may simply decide that the firm will continue to pay the unemployed worker after his state jobless insurance runs out.

Whatever it is, all are agreed that Reuther will get some sort of guaranteed annual wage "language" from Ford to set the precedent. Then the Auto Union will turn on General Motors, to cover its 400,000 workers. Chrysler, with its 160,000 people, is expected to fall in line after the Big Two of the Big Three have had it.

The Teamsters' news letter figures that such a CIO victory will run the cost of fringe benefits to the nation's employers up to 40 or 50 cents an hour—$16 to $20 a week above wages, to cover welfare, pensions, vacations, and now the guaranteed wage.

RIGHT AFTER World War II this figure was 14 cents an hour, or about $6.40 a week.

Meanwhile, Ford denies that it has made a pact with Reuther. A Ford spokesman telephoned Cheyfitz long distance to say so.

What happens then if Ford holds out? Reuther will strike the company, or the industry. He will have not only the $25,000,000 of his own strike fund, but the support of the newly wedded AFL-CIO. If he wins, the rest of the labor movement will move right in on the year round pay precedent.

But those who have just sat on the inner-inner councils of the CIO Auto Union report that there just is not the tension and movement that precedes a national strike. All is calm inside Reuther's camp. The informed feel that somewhere in the auto industry, Reuther has already been promised the guaranteed annual wage.

It will be merely a matter of time before the rest of the nation follows.

Strange Delicacies

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

If you don't like to nibble on Mexican fried worms, Mrs. Evelyn Haines won't quarrel with you.

"They taste something like a crisp rice cracker, and make a good conversational tidbit at cocktail time," she said. "But I myself prefer the flavor of Florida rattlesnake meat or French larks stuffed with truffles and goose liver."

HAL BOYLE

Mrs. Haines, a tall, attractive Pennsylvania dutch housewife, has an unusual job. She is a food scout who searches the markets of the world for rare foreign menu items unknown to most American palates. Her own palate has few prejudices, and she feels she has one of the most interesting and enjoyable careers of any woman in America.

"Right now I'm trying to find someone who imports chocolate-covered ants," she said. "They're quite a delicacy in South America, I understand, and I'm very curious to see how they taste."

OTHER DELICACIES Mrs. Haines has received orders for, but so far has been unable to fill: Roasted grasshoppers, canned bats from Guam and French fried bumblebees from Burma.

"One customer wanted me to get him some hummingbird tongues, because he had heard the old Roman emperors used to snack on them," she said, smiling. "But I think he was merely trying to send me on a wild goose chase."

Mrs. Haines was launched on her odd career after her employer, Max Hess, head of a department store in Allentown, Pa, returned from a trip abroad convinced his customers might like to try exotic foods they had read about but perhaps never tasted.

HUSBANDS, HE soon found, were willing to buy dishes like Japanese boiled quail eggs, but their cautious wives restrained them. They did, that is, until Hess got the idea of having Mrs. Haines open and sample the delicacies before their eyes, and show the wives how to prepare and serve them.

"I had a pretty good background for the job," said Mrs. Haines. "My dad—he was an undertaker—was a gourmet. As a child I got used to eating strange foods such as calves' tonsils and oxtails."

She has found men are far more willing than women to adventure with foreign delicacies. Former servicemen, in particular, like to sample new dishes they ate in other lands during wartime.

"Some people buy things such as the Mexican fried worms only as a gag," she said, "and then are surprised to learn they like them. We've had quite a few repeat orders for worms. They're one of our best-selling items. They look rather like empty black locust shells. But they aren't as tasty, of course, as rattlesnake meat. That tastes rather like veal."

OTHER FOOD rarities which Mrs. Haines stocks and tastes, with more or less enjoyment, are dried seaweed and octopus from Japan, canned grouse from Scotland, and steak, buffalo stew, Chilean hot peppers stuffed with red snapper, canned grouse from Scotland, and Spanish stuffed cuttlefish canned in its own ink.

(The ink tastes fine, but the cuttlefish is more on the order of a rubbery sardine.)

"Sometimes I bring new foods home to let my 80-year-old mother taste them," remarked Mrs. Haines. "She took a bite of rattlesnake, then said:

"'Well, I do believe I'd rather have a bottle of beer and a platter of crab patties.'"

Her husband, a steelworker, refuses to be a guinea pig, sticks stoutly to potatoes, meat and gravy.

Only once has her palate rebelled against Mrs. Haines. That was when she tasted a canned brood of eels in olive oil.

"They are like a nest of small threads, each about a half inch long," she said. "When I spread them on a cocktail cracker, I could see their little eyes looking up at me . . . Their little black eyes."

After her bout with the infant eels, Mrs. Haines feels sure those chocolate-covered ants will be a welcome appetizer.

State Pushes Trial of Deputy At Phenix City

BIRMINGHAM Ala (AP)—Prosecuting attorneys turned back to the motive for A L Patterson s murder today with silence on persistent reports of surprise witnesses coming up against Albert Fuller

Chief prosecutor Cecil Deason placed a blackout on the identity of those who will be called to the stand before the state rests its case, probably late this week

Deason told newsmen merely that he would offer fresh testimony today about vice and racketeering that flourished in Phenix City before the crusading crime fighter was slain June 18, and about Patterson s vow to drive out the racketeers

Meanwhile a state toxicologist who made ballistics tests on the bullets taken from Patterson's body faced continued cross-examination by defense attorneys

Toxicologist W L Sowell told the jury yesterday that although two types of 38-caliber slugs — one a snub-nosed bullet the other copper coated — were recovered from Patterson s body tests indicated they were fired from the same gun

He also said one of the bullets was identical in texture with another of the same type found at Fuller s home Fuller was chief deputy sheriff at crime ridden Phenix City when the 59 year old former state senator was shot down after winning the Democratic nomination for attorney general of Alabama

AEC Awaits Weather Verdict on Third Blast

LAS VEGAS Nev (AP)—Atomic scientists will consult weather charts today to determine whether to fire the third shot of the spring nuclear series tomorrow morning

Unfavorable winds which have thrown the series far off schedule also may force postponement of a test tomorrow

Flash of the second shot which lighted the predawn sky yesterday, was seen in San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles several hundred miles from the test site The shot from a 30-foot tower on Yucca Flat was the probable prototype for an atomic missile warhead

Consumption, Market Expands

Fish Grows in Popularity With Housewives in U.S.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Fish of the seven seas have come bountifully to the aid of the housewife for the lenten season starting today.

Several important varieties of fish swam into Pacific Coast waters last year in the biggest schools in years. Canners, encouraged by high prices of fish and the byproducts of fish meal and oil, put up record or near record packs.

Fishermen from Japan and Peru sent their catch. European waters contributed canned or smoked delicacies. South Africa sent lobster tails.

And new ways of processing and distributing have widened the market and built up the consumption of fish.

The frozen fish industry, growing rapidly, is expecting its best sales year. It has 194 million pounds in storage to feed the multitude. This puts stocks 10 per cent ahead of a year ago.

FRESH FISH handlers say their business holds up well, in spite of the inroads of the processed products. This is largely true in the coastal states.

Frozen fish companies say that in the last year or so their product has increased per capita consumption in the interior regions where historically fish, whether fresh water or salt, hasn't been a favored food.

The period of big consumption is just ahead, when for 40 days several million Americans eat less meat and more fish.

Spectacular catches along the Western coast last summer have put the industry in good shape to meet the demand.

Puget Sound canneries put up 23 million pounds of sockeye salmon, the largest pack in 41 years. Alaskan canneries packed 28 million pounds of chum salmon, eight million more than the previous year.

SALMON RUNS from the Pacific to the rivers where they spawn vary widely from year to year. Last year was a bountiful one for the fishermen.

Sardines which had shunned the Pacific Coast for several years returned in large numbers to their sorrow. In 1953 only three million pounds were squeezed into little cans. In 1954 the canners tinned 60 million pounds for the nation's pantry shelves.

American, Japanese and Peruvian fishermen hauled in record numbers of tuna. Now 209 million pounds of the fish are waiting to go into salads, sandwiches and casseroles.

Frozen fish handlers are the most jubilant. They put 303 million pounds of fish and shellfish into the deep dreeze last year. This was 27½ million more pounds than the previous year. They have 194 million pounds ready for lent.

The National Wholesale Frozen Food Distributors Assn. thinks one fifth of the seafood sold these days is hauled up by the housewife from the freezer cabinets in the markets.

The industry boasts of its lucky catch of that lady's fancy in the summer of 1953 when it brought out frozen fish sticks. The output of this one item last year was 5 million pounds.

What with the fish being so cooperative, and the progress in processing and distributing, it looks like a good season—for everyone but the poor fish.

WINTER QUEEN. Judy Kirby of St. Jovite, Quebec, Canada, was chosen to reign over the 24th Winter Carnival at Middlebury College, Vermont. Co-captain of the women's ski team, she was selected by a vote of 1,200 students and was crowned at a Carnival Ball.

New Lightweight Cranes Can Be Dropped by Air

NUNDA, N. Y. (UP) — The first crane ever built so it can be dropped from an airplane has been designed by a Nunda consulting engineer.

Arthur Orloff worked out details of the new-type heavy-duty crane for the Wayne Crane Division of American Steel Dredge Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind. The company received a government research and development contract for the self-propelled, rubber - tired lightweight vehicle capable of being chuted to earth over combat territory.

The crane is to be constructed of special alloy materials possessing lightness and strength. The design calls for about half the weight of a similar-size standard road crane weighing 32,000 pounds.

Need for Help Stressed

Hiring Experts To Assist In Appeals Drive Studied

The feasibility of obtaining the services of a professional fund-raising firm to assist with next October's United Appeals campaign in Marion was explored by the United Appeals planning committee and Board of Trustees in an informal meeting Tuesday night at the Community Foundation offices on S. Main St.

In line with this possibility, the group heard talks by Harry August of Columbus, area representative of Ketchum, Inc., of Pittsburgh, and Glenn Wood of the home office of the American City Bureau of Chicago.

After the discussion, E. J. Kinter, executive secretary of United Appeals and the Community Foundation, and the planning committee were authorized to continue exploratory talks with the two companies and to present a concrete proposal to the United Appeals board at a formal meeting to be held in about two weeks.

IN INTRODUCING August and Wood, Kinter told the group that the consideration of obtaining the services of a fund-raising firm had grown out of his contacts with United Appeals and Community Chest officials in other Ohio cities.

Most of the officials in the other cities expressed a belief that the help of a fund-raising organization for one or two years would correct the situation that exists in Marion after two successive unsuccessful United Appeals drives, Kinter said.

There are 16 top fund-raising organizations in the United States, he pointed out, of which Ketchum, Inc., and American City Bureau are two. Both August and Wood emphasized that all of these companies work on a fixed-fee basis only.

August explained that a professional fund-raising firm is a "doctor" that provides personnel with the time and training to get a local organization on its feet. He stressed that it is not necessary to retain professionals over a long period, but only for a year or two until the momentum is built up for a local group to continue on its own.

HE POINTED OUT the experience of the Lima Community Chest, which has been assisted by Ketchum, Inc., the last two years. Last fall the Lima campaign grossed $65,000 more than in 1952, the last year it was held without professional help, and the increase from 1952 to 1953 was $52,000. He said his company accepted only three chest campaigns last year and all surpassed their goals.

Wood said American City Bureau has directed 1,500 chest drives in the last 40 years. He discussed many of the detailed mechanics of conducting a campaign, and reiterated August's statements on the need of a professional firm to overcome such a situation as the one in which Marion finds itself.

Both men recommended that if a professional firm were employed, a director should be hired for eight or nine weeks, part of which would be spent in a visit this spring to set up preliminary plans upon which the local staff and volunteers could be working during the summer.

The meeting was conducted by Jackson H. Taft, president of United Appeals.

Deep Plowing for Corn, Oats and Alfalfa No Help

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—An agronomist at the University of Nebraska said studies show it doesn't help alfalfa to plow deeper than normal, nor does such a maneuver aid growth of corn and oats.

The agonomist, Dr. M. D. Weldon, said the studies covered a five-year period and included ordinary plowing at a depth of six inches, and plowing to a depth of 12 inches.

RETAINING WALL COLLAPSES

CINCINNATI (AP)—A section of the retaining wall on Columbia Parkway—overlooking the Ohio River—collapsed last night. Tons of dirt and rock were released and two families were forced to evacuate their homes.

Architect Says U.S. Churches Changing Style

CINCINNATI (AP) — America is building churches which are liveable and economical, says H. Walter Damon of Youngstown, Ohio.

Damon is secretary of the Church Architectural Guild of America, sponsor of an annual church building contest to be judged tomorrow. Six models and 125 church exhibits are entered.

"Under the impetus of the current emphasis on utility and simplicity an American tradition is being shattered," Damon said. "For more than a hundred years church architecture has remained loyal to the gothic or colonial because church people regarded it as the trademark of good church designs."

However, he said, church committees in many cities have rejected the traditional.

"They have encouraged church architecture that fits the needs of a particular church congregation," Damon said. "They are getting God-like churches that are much more liveable as well as economical."

Very few exhibits in this year's contests reflect gothic and colonial influence, Damon said church architects are not trying to create style, but to provide better facilities for the total life of the church and to create a spiritual tone.

The guild and the Bureau of Church Building of the National Council of Churches is sponsoring an annual National Joint Conference on Church Architecture in Cincinnati.

Refresher Course

Last time I was messing around with Madison Avenue English, I threw in one expression — "This is a pure horseback" — which just plain baffled me. Since then a couple of legal 'eagles I know have informed me this is an old lawyer expression. A "horseback opinion" is an on-the-cuff opinion. It's believed to date way back to when judges used to ride the circuit on horseback. A "horseback opinion" was an on-the-spot judgment, pending the time when he could dismount and go into the question more thoroughly.

JOHN CROSBY

Since I last wandered around ad alley, Holiday magazine has come out with a little booklet, 'The Holiday Advertising Man's Diary," which contains a good many of the ad expressions which have been printed here and also a good many of their own. I'm rather fond of this one "Can you drop down and put out a small brush fire'" which freely translated means, "Help! Help!" Also "It's time to put our feet apart and face up to the client." Which is just another way of saying, "You wanna live forever?"

KEEPING MY OWN ear to the ground, I think I detect a small trend toward medical vernacular, as if ad alley had all been tuned into "Medic" lately "Let's give this a few days of bed care, and see if we can't get the blood count up," one ad man was overheard to say recently Another ad man discussing a rather wan idea exclaimed "Given enough plasma, this one might live"

All the way from New Orleans, ad man writes to tell me that Madison Avenue has no corner on timidity They can be just as timid down there, he writes, and just as colorful in expressing it Here are two southern ad expressions, both faintly redolent of magnolias "I'm afraid to open that basket of snakes" And "Let's take a long look through the keyhole before we open that door" Another one from below the Mason-Dixon line 'Let's shake out the sheets and see what we find"

SOME OF THE LATEST expressions from the avenue itself have been slipped under my door by a furtive character in a three-button charcoal suit who hurried over between meetings while his notes are still fresh His associates have been preoccupied with cooking lately, judging by these two "Let's put some grease in the pan, the fish is burning" (Let's get this campaign back on its feet while there's still time) 'Back to the oven you're not done yet (That idea needs a lot of work)

There's a long list of expressions to choose from for the brave man who takes the plunge and decides they'll try the idea "Let's drop it down the well and see how big a splash it makes' "Let's pitch a mashie and see how close we are to the green" "Let's drop the cat in the woods and see if she comes home" If a man doesn't want to go that far out on a limb, or on a twig, as they sometimes say in Ad Alley, and usually he doesn't he can postpone things with "Let's swivel chair that one a while"

A USEFUL EXPRESSION for passing some dirty work over to an underling is 'Somebody's got to bird dog this" 'We've got to be sure we've got the compass pointing true north" means "I want this done my way" And a few others 'Let's unseal it before the glue is dry" (You're not doing it my way) "Let's steam it open and rewrite it" (You're not doing it my way) "This needs revitaminizing" (Maybe we can still save it) "We've really got to rev it up, this is a short runway' (You better work late tonight, we haven't much time).

Five Governors in Favor of Toll Roads

EVANSVILLE, Ind (AP) — Five midwestern governors believe building toll road is the quickest way to provide the nation-wide network of expressways asked by President Eisenhower

Tax supported roads, the governors said in a statement after a transportation conference here yesterday, are inadequate in the face of the rapidly growing number of autos

"Their failure is best demonstrated by the pressing and urgent problems we have on our highways today," the statement said

The five signers were Govs George N Craig of Indiana; Victor E Anderson of Nebraska Frank J Lausche of Ohio, William G Stratton of Illinois and Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky

The regional transportation conference was attended by 220 officials and highway experts from 13 states and Washington, D C It was sponsored by the Evansville Committee of 100 a civic group

Govs Craig, Lausche and Stratton announced at the conference that a survey would be conducted to determine the feasibility of a toll road to link St Louis and Cincinnati by crossing southern Indiana and Illinois The three officials said their representatives would meet in the next two weeks to select a firm to carry out this project.

Alabama State Sen Richard M Flowers who headed a 10-member delegation from his state, told the conference that talk of a North-South toll road through the Midwest was "music to our ears"

"We want it very, very badly,' he added

Gov Craig also said he had received word from Gov James Folsom of Alabama that he is 'in complete accord with the program"

No specific routings for a North-South road were discussed But it was noted that Kentucky now is building a superhighway from Louisville to Elizabethtown and Indiana has tentative plans for a toll road from Chicago to the Indianapolis area Both presumably would figure in a North South toll system linking Chicago and Florida

'Politics,' Claims GOP

Approval of Democrats' Income Tax Cut Dubious

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Don't bet on an income tax cut any time soon even though the House Democrats seem ready to approve one

In January President Eisenhower held out hope of a tax reduction in 1956 which happens to be a presidential and congressional election year

Eisenhower after explaining in his budget message why the country can't afford any reductions this year said

I hope that tax reductions will be justified next year If so I shall recommend a reduction to spread the relief fairly among all . "

Any connection between that hope and the idea that one of the roads to a voter's affection is through his pocketbook may have been purely coincidental

BUT IF EISENHOWER did propose a reduction in the 1956 election year it would put the Democrats in Congress over a bit of a barrel, politically

The Republicans couldn't put the cut through by themselves They're outnumbered The Democrats control Congress now and almost certainly will control it next year, too

But if the Democrats helped Eisenhower put through a tax reduction in 1956, the Republicans no doubt would tell the voters to thank Eisenhower

At the same time since 1956 is an election year the Democrats could hardly refuse to go along on a tax cut

HOUSE DEMOCRATS apparently think they have found a way to beat the President to the punch and take the play away from the Republicans in 1956

The House Ways and Means Committee dominated by Democrats has voted to send a tax cut bill to the House floor for a showdown, perhaps tomorrow. Their plan would give every taxpayer a $20 cut, plus $20 for each dependent

Republicans cried "politics" and Democrats said they were merely trying to "rectify the Republican injustices' in 1954's tax cut legislation

Not all House Democrats went along with the House Democratic leaders But even if the House puts through the bill, it may be killed in the Senate which would also have to approve before the cut could become law

Europe produces 45 per cent of the world's coal and the United States 34 per cent

NEW YORK (AP)—Highly selective trading produced a narrowly mixed stock market today in the early afternoon.

There was demand for aircrafts, farm implement and radio-television stocks. Railroads and utilities climbed irregularly. But steels, motors, chemicals, airlines, oils and mining issues were generally lower.

Gains extended to several points while losses were mostly minor fractions.

Gaining ground were International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Admiral, Zenith, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric Storage Battery, American Tobacco, New York Central and DuPont.

Lower were U.S. Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Climax Molybdenum, Anaconda, American Cyanamid, Dow Chemical, Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Pan American Airways, Paramount and Loew's.

Belt Would Kill Coal Industry, Opponents Say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of a proposed Lake Erie-to-Ohio River cargo-hauling belt conveyor last night attacked it as a device which could doom Ohio's 34 million-ton-a-year coal mining industry.

Opponents got their first digs last night before the Ohio House Commerce and Transportation Committee at a bill which would grant giant belt conveyors public utility status and the right to condemn private land for a right-of-way.

Cites Rate Differential

Adolph Pacifico of Bellaire, president of District 6, United Mine Workers, declares the lower freight rates on coal Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc., claims it can offer "would upset the competitive balance" between Ohio coal and that produced in other states.

The lower rates, he testified, would be enjoyed only by Pennsylvania and West Virginia mines which are close enough to cheap water transportation to enable them to get their coal to Riverlake's terminal at East Liverpool. No appreciable amount of Ohio coal is mined close enough to the Ohio River to permit Ohio mines to benefit from the belt conveyor, Pacifico declared, adding:

"Lower transportation costs for Ohio mines are the chief reason Ohio mines are able to stay in business; right now they can deliver coal to the lake freighters at about 25 cents a ton less than coal from other states.

Industry Doomed

"If you permit West Virginia coal, which is of better quality, to reach Lake Erie $1 a ton cheaper because of conveyor transportation, the Ohio coal industry is doomed."

Pacifico followed to the stand Arnold Lamm of Lancaster, vice president of the Sunny Hill Coal Sales Co. which operates a big strip mine in Perry County and produces about one million tons of coal a year. He declared:

"Riverlake's lower proposed rates, which only out-of-state mines will be able to use, would vitally imperil our ability to sell coal. It might put our firm out of business and might eliminate the coal mining business in Ohio.

"It is my belief Riverlake is asking a special advantage which will operate only to the disadvantage of an important Ohio industry."

Lamm declared Riverlake's so-called "rubber railroad" would even hurt railroading in southern and western Ohio. That, he said, is because coal which normally passed by rail through the "Cincinnati gateway" northbound for the coal docks at Toledo could move more cheaply up the Ohio River to the southern terminal of the conveyor.

Rate Discussion

The entire hearing, held in a small, packed committee room, was a highly technical discussion of involved freight rates.

Neither last week's two hearings nor last night's produced any of the drama of Riverlake's two previous attempts to get a legislative grant of the right of eminent domain. Almost all the participants appear only to be "going through the motions" in the lack-lustre hearings and more than one legislator has remarked:

"These hearings aren't changing anyone's mind; all the committee members knew how they were going to vote before the hearings started."

Last night's attack on the bill was kicked off by Martin Krumlauf of Columbus, counsel for the Ohio Assn. of Railroads.

Faure Seeking Cabinet Okay

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure laid his program and prospective cabinet before the National Assembly today, asking approval to head France's 21st postwar government. His chances generally were considered good.

Outlining his aims if given the job, Faure said he would work for final ratification of the Paris treaties rearming West Germany. These pacts have been approved by the Assembly but still face action in the upper house.

After final ratification of the treaties, Faure said, new efforts should be undertaken immediately to arrange for Big Four negotiations on both European and Asian problems.

He made no sweeping pledges to any group in the badly divided Assembly. Instead, he suggested unspectacular movies to raise gradually the standard of living in France, further stimulate industrial production and work out distribution problems for surplus farm products.

Political observers estimated Faure would win with around 320 votes. This would give him a working majority — at least for the present — of the 625-seat Assembly.

Aftermath of Red Hearing

Supreme Court of Ohio Will Hear Contempt Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — Ohio's Supreme Court today agreed to review the contempt conviction of Mrs. Anna H. Morgan of Columbus for refusing to answer questions about alleged Communist connections.

Mrs. Morgan, wife of the former curator of Ohio State Museum, appealed from Franklin County court decisions.

The Ohio Un-American Activities Commission cited her on 37 counts of contempt for refusing to answer questions at an April 1, 1952, hearing. She was convicted on 32 counts and acquitted on five.

Mrs. Morgan took refuge in the Fifth Amendment. She claimed that to answer questions would give the commission a chance to incriminate her.

Claimed Illegal

Counsel for Mrs. Morgan asserted the commission was illegal.

Fred Morton lost his appeal from refusal of the state liquor board to renew beer and liquor licenses for Morton's Cafe, 221 S. 6th St., Hamilton. The board refused the renewals on grounds Morton was convicted of a felony during the prohibition era.

Lower courts affirmed the board because Morton served in World War II less than a year. They said a presidential pardon granted veterans applied only for World War II service of at least one year. Morton also served two years in World War I.

The Supreme Court let the decision stand.

Supreme Court judges agreed to review a request by Theodore M. Kramer for release from Ohio Penitentiary where he was imprisoned for breaking and entering in Clark County. Convicted Dec. 19, 1951, he was sentenced to an indefinite term.

Fremont Case

The Supreme Court agreed to review an appeal by the city of Fremont from an appellate court decision in an insurance case.

A tree, weakened by city widening of Jackson St., fell on the home of Mae Smith during a windstorm April 1, 1950. The Standard Fire Insurance Co. paid for the damage and sued the city for recovery. Common pleas held for the city but an appellate court reversed and returned the case for further proceedings.

The high court refused to disturb Jefferson County decisions holding for Harry B. Chalfant, an administrator of the estate of William S. Ollett, Steubenville, in an action for title to coal lands in Smithfield Twp. The coal was sold for non-payment of taxes on June 13, 1946, and the county auditor deeded the land to Dwain Birney. Ollett died in 1952 and Chalfant sued to vacate the deed given Birney.

Hardin County Case

The Supreme Court took under study Hardin County decisions holding that the estate of Charles H. Shanafelt should pay interest on a $20,000 legacy created for the benefit of the poor of Kenton.

Eugene B. Wetherell brought the action as trustee against John M. Danner and other executors of the estate. Wetherell was appointed trustee after a Kenton Masonic lodge declined the trusteeship.

Probate Court held the estate should allow the trustee 6 per cent interest totaling $14,177 from June 7, 1941, to April 1, 1953, and interest thereafter. An appellate court modified the rate to 2½ per cent for about the same period.

Shanafelt, who died May 29, 1940, left an estate valued at $207,673.

Northern Ohio Telephone Co. won a round in a court dispute with Nova Telephone Co. over the right to serve residents along Ashland County Road 11.

Bill of Exceptions

The high court directed an appellate court to let Northern file a narrative bill of exceptions in the case. Northern's attorneys said the order will permit them to enter on the court record a June 9, 1954, order of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission. That order said it was Northern's right and duty to serve applicants on both sides of the county road. Nova has disputed that right for years.

Northern began service in the disputed area after the commission order. The appellate court ordered the firm to halt the new service or face a $25 a day fine for contempt of an injunction. The Supreme Court has ordered the appellate court to delay any contempt action against Northern pending final outcome of the litigation.

SPEEDSTER AT 70. Lord Brabazon of Tara, British grandpa and toboggan racer since 1907, beat a 19-year-old in 1955 Coronation Cup handicap race at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Inmates of Prisons No Different, Says Expert

MILWAUKEE (UP) — John Burke, warden of the state prison at Waupun, says the inmates of the penitentiary are not much different from the average citizen.

"We only get the criminals who are caught," Burke said recently. "There are lots of others, some of whom live in your own neighborhoods, and they're just as dangerous as the ones we have in prison."

Burke told a group of teachers that it is the job of the schools to keep their pupils from straying into lives of crime.

He said most prison inmates have about average mentalities: never learned how to spend their leisure time: don't take care of themselves properly; don't know a trade and fail to go to church.

"We try to reclaim a man by giving him something to do," Burke said. "Still there are people who say we're coddling people, we're going soft, we're too easy."

ALLERGIC TO DOGS

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UP)—Helene T. Arlington, author of animal stories under the pen name "Dear Dog Lady," has given away her four Dalmatians. She says she's become allergic to dogs and "can't even stand to hear a dog bark now."

Music Lesson Business Hiked By Adult Pupils

NEW YORK (UP) — Let them laugh when you sit down at the piano.

Chances are they soon will join you as part of the increasing number of grownups taking music lessons like the kids.

The lesson business is booming like the stock market, according to a spokesman for the American Music Conference.

The persons who rebelled at study in childhood now wail, "Why didn't mom make me practice?" Then they hunt up a music teacher, rent or buy a piano or other instrument, and start annoying the neighbors.

Why?

Part of it is to satisfy a secret yen which Dr. John Clark Kendel says all of us have to play a musical instrument. And part of it is the new approach to learning—it's less painful than in the days of finger exercises and more finger exercises.

Although all these adults now banging out "The Blue Danube" won't develop into Liberaces, they will add a lot of fun and richness to their everyday life, said Kendel, administrative vice - president of the conference. It is a non-profit organization working to stimulate music appreciation and participation.

The piano is the favorite instrument of these late-starters, and perhaps Liberace should get some of the credit.

"Certainly he's called a lot of attention to it," said Kendel, with a chuckle.

But the piano always has been a favorite, he said, because it provides harmony, melody and accompaniment all at the same time. And it's the easiest to learn.

The conference estimated that 25,000,000 Americans, a record number, now play some musical instrument.

If Kendel has his way, eventually all 165,000,000 of us will toot a horn, strum a guitar, or bang a piano.

"Any artistic expression is good for the soul," said Kendel. "Doesn't matter whether the critics like you or not, it's the satisfaction in performance which counts."

"Otherwise," he said, "why would there be a such world-wide chorus of bathroom singers."

Kendel formerly was music editor of the Rocky Mountain News, for 28 years was director of music education in Denver schools, and was state supervisor of music and assistant superintendent of public instruction in music in Michigan.

Metal Research Speeded Up by Atomic Studies

NEW YORK (UP) — The practical theorists who are working toward space ships, super-super jets and the peaceful potentials of nuclear energy are pushing scientists to new frontiers in metallurgycal research to meet the unprecedented demands of the atomic era.

Steelways, official publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said that basic new needs have developed in such fields as chemistry, electronics, aviation and atomic energy due to extraordinary conditions of heat and corrosion now being encountered and to the effects of radiation.

The magazine added that familiar metals are being investigated from fresh directions, and that scarce metals heretofore used merely as alloying elements in steel now are being probed as base metals themselves. Rare metals are being pried loose from their ores in quantities and some metals that were mere laboratory curiousities are being considered commercially.

Of all the new metals, titanium has shown the most rapid development, largely due to demand from the Air Force, the magazine reported. Once plane designers knew there was a metal only a little heavier than aluminum but nearly as strong as steel and highly resistant to corrosion, they wanted plenty of it in a hurry even though it could not compete with stainless steel at high temperatures.

Nearly all the production of titanium metal has gone into the making of parts for jet engines and airframes.

Zirconium, beryolium and titanium are not the only exciting new metals. For example, molybdenum, long familiar as an alloying metal for steel, is now the subject of experiments as a base metal, and shows great promise of becoming a real Cinderella of high temperature materials for jet engines.

Other alloying elements, such as tungsten and vanadium, also are under study as possible base metals, but results either are inconclusive or hidden behind security regulations.

Hafnium is the subject of considerable interest because of its ability to grab neutrons with greedy abandon. It makes excellent control rods for atomic piles, cutting off the chain reaction or regulating its intensity.

Germanium, metallic silicon, lithium, gallium — every known metal and combination of metals, plastics and ceramics—are being explored. Metals today are the key to progress in nearly every field of science and engineering.

REMOVE HEAT MARKS

Heat marks on furniture often can be removed with camphorated oil. The best method of application is to stroke the spot lightly with a cloth moistened with the oil, then rub immediately with a dry cloth. Don't use a linty cloth; the fuzz may stick to the wood. The final step is a new coat of wax.

Announce New Way to Relieve Pain of Arthritis and Rheumatism Without Pills!

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep—speeds up flow of fresh, rich blood into sore areas—actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring a new kind of relief from pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and muscular aches and pains. This new cream relieves these pains without the need of taking pills and other internal medicines that may only upset the system.

Gently rubbed into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep and completely that it actually vanishes. Quickly a comforting feeling of warmth develops and the whole painful area takes on a pleasing glow. This is striking evidence of the power of this cream to penetrate quickly and stimulate the circulation of the blood. This glow illustrates how it speeds up the flow of fresh, rich blood into the sore areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

146 British and French doctors are so satisfied with this new help for patients suffering from arthritis and rheumatism that they have prepared written reports of success based on hundreds of cases. Further, one of the leading arthritis and rheumatism clinicians in the United States has now confirmed the findings of these doctors.

Now for the first time this remarkable cream can be obtained without a prescription at drug stores throughout America—under the name InfraRUB®. The price of InfraRUB is only 98¢ for a large tube. InfraRUB is backed by the amazing guarantee that sufferers from the pains of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia or muscle injuries or sprains will get hours and hours of comforting relief or their money will be refunded in full.
